

Large Toll By Vandals

Damage Is Set At $1,398 In Incidents

Vandals accounted for about $1,398 in damage after a rock-throwing spree in Sedalia between 1 and 4:30 a.m. Friday. The total loss includes $1,000 fire damage at the MFA Poultry Division plant on Jefferson Street.

Sedalia Fire Chief Emmett "Potts" Vaught said stuffing from a sofa cushion had been jammed between boards and set on fire at the MFA building. He said $250 damage occurred to the contents and $750 to the building.

The fire was officially listed as a possible arson, but police had no suspects in the case.

The greatest part of the damage done during the night involved shattered plate glass windows. Police reported several articles stolen as well, however.

According to their reports, the incidents began shortly after a large number of youths gathered at the water tower parking lot on East Main, were told to disperse by police. Officers said the youths left, but then reports of damage began to filter in to police headquarters.

The first call came at 1:10 a.m. from United Parcel Service on East Main where a plate glass window was broken out. The value was not listed by police.

The other calls followed in short order. They were:

From the Donald Jones residence, 319 North Osage, where a window valued at $15 was broken out; Jean's Market, three windows broken out and potato chips and cigarettes stolen with a total value of $78.55 set on the loss; from Mrs. Penelope Bell, 218 West Pettis, who reported a window valued at $5 was broken out; from the Wiggle Inn, where a plate glass window and a glass on a juke box were broken, total damage set at $100; from the Missouri-Pacific depot where a $50 plate glass window was broken out; and from Sedalia Radio and Television Supply Co., where six radios were stolen after a window was smashed. The total loss in that case was set at $150.

Reports early Friday morning, regarding the incidents carried racial overtones, but Chief of Police William E. Miller said they were disconnected incidents of vandalism. He said there was "no planned action" that he could determine.

Preview Tonight

Plan Early Fair Visit For State's Newsmen

Tonight at the Missouri State Fair there will be a preview for several hundred newspaper, radio and television personnel and their families when they are entertained by Fair officials. They will be given a tour of the grounds in the late afternoon followed by dinner and then a full evening of entertainment on the Midway. The visitors will be given the first opportunity to see the many new improvements of the fair facilities as well as many of the early exhibits.

Dexter Davis, Commissioner of Agriculture and Secretary of the Fair, Wilbert C. Askew will host the group which, Askew estimated will be nearly 700 persons, the largest since the preview parties have been held for news media.

Many state officials including Governor Warren E. Hearnes and others are expected to be on hand to meet and greet the visitors.

The itinerary calls for the group to meet at the Administration building for a formal greeting by Commissioner Davis and Secretary Askew. After which a two-hour tour will be held, followed by a buffet dinner on the lawn of the Secretary's residence.

They will also get the first glimpse of the 22 fair queens from over the state who began their competition for the Missouri Queen of Fairs Thursday. One of these young ladies will be crowned at Coronation ceremonies to be held in front of the Grandstand Sunday night.

Missouri's sister state in Japan, Nagano, has sent a $5,000 exhibit to the Fair and it is hoped it will be ready for the preview. The exhibit was arranged by State Senator John W. Joynt of St. Louis on a recent trip to that country and state.

The display is located in the Industrial building.

In The News

AGRINION, Greece (AP)—Police said Thursday they have arrested two men they identified as members of a Communist-led resistance organization which has been distributing leaflets attacking Greece's military dictatorship.

They said more arrests are expected in Agrinion, a central Greek tobacco town known in the past as a hotbed of leftist activity.

Police said the group was the Patriotic Antidictatorship Front. They identified the men as Tassos Tselos, a local leader of the now disbanded Moscow-line United Democratic Left party, and Panayiotis Moschonas, a party member. They said Tselos had been sought since the April 21 military coup.

Police broke up what they called another branch of the group on the island of Crete last month and arrested eight persons.

City Offices To Be Closed

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick said today that all city administrative offices would be closed Tuesday and Thursday during fair week.

No definite determination has been made yet on administrative offices at the county courthouse.

Coming to the fair on Saturday and to remain in the area until early Tuesday is a delegation of businessmen from Brazil accompanied by two interpreters and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Witinski, vice-president of the McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Corp., St. Louis.

This group will stop at Whiteman AFB, then shuttle to Sedalia each day and back that night. At the fair Commissioner Davis and Secretary Askew will be their host.

Saturday opens the 65th annual State Fair for Missouri, with the day being a heavy schedule of judging of the various exhibits, especially the 4-H and FFA youth exhibits of livestock.

The day has been selected as Armed Forces Day and representation is expected from the various services at the fair.

In the afternoon the Big Car auto sprint races will be held on the half-mile track while at night the Super-Modified stock car events will be run on the track.

At the Coliseum the Horse Show will open with one of the largest of entries in history. The horse show is one of the free attractions on the program.

"Kicksville" something new for the youth visiting the fair will open. It is a large dance floor where the modern orchestras for modern dances with national named bands and local bands furnishing the music.

Secretary Askew calls attention to religious services to be held on the fair grounds from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Sunday at which time all activity on the grounds will cease. Catholic services at the Coliseum with Mass at 8:30; Protestant services in the grandstand; Lutheran services at the Highway Gardens.

Safety features of the temporary grandstand, which will seat 12,000, have been pointed out by fair officials, who report the grandstand is constructed of steel uprights with all new lumber for seating and walkways and secured on concrete. The same type of stands were used at the Augusta International Speedway at Augusta, Georgia, the past several years, and at the Daytona Beach, Fla. speedway. They are identical to those of the Tennessee State Fair.

Secretary Askew pointed out they have been inspected by the State Engineer and Architect and tested. They will support 250 pounds to every 18 inches area.

No Levy On JUCO Approved

The judges of the Benton County Court approved all tax levies except the 30-cent Junior College levy in action Aug. 14, according to Bob White, Benton County Clerk.

White said the court had not approved the junior college levy pending disposition on various briefs now before the Missouri Supreme Court for study.

All tax levies approved are based on $100 assessed valuation, White said. The school taxes approved by the court include:

Feaster School, $1; Limestone School, $1.25; Shilo School, $1; Cole Camp School, $2; Lincoln School, $2.85; Windsor School, $1.80; Warsaw School, $2.77; $1.25 for a small school district west of Warsaw; RIM (part of Morgan County) $1.25; R1H (including a section of a school district in Henry County) $3.25; R2H (Hickory County) — $2.50; R3H (Hickory County) — $2.95; R4C (Climax Springs), $2.45; Osceola, $1; Fairfield, 65 cents.

City tax levies approved include:

Ionia, 99 cents; Cole Camp, $1; Warsaw, $1; Lincoln, $2.80. The road tax was approved at 35 cents, 50 cents for general revenue; ten cents for library taxes and 30 cents for nursing homes.

Social Security Bill Is Passed

Measure Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed overwhelmingly a massive Social Security overhaul that would raise benefits, hike taxes and crack down on idle state welfare recipients.

But it probably will be months before the extra money is flowing to some 24.2 million current beneficiaries because the Senate isn't ready to consider the legislation at once.

Moreover, a Senate conflict is brewing over those provisions of the House-passed measure intended to toughen federally aided state welfare programs.

"We're rough in this bill—make no mistake about that—but we don't mean to be inhuman," said Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, during Thursday's debate on the measure.

Mills' reference was to provisions imposing income limitations on persons eligible for federally backed state Medicaid programs, requiring states to channel jobless welfare recipients into work or job training and limiting the proportion of children receiving welfare.

Under the measure, states could aid no more children than the proportion of children receiving aid in January 1967. The number could rise, but not their total proportion to the over-all child population of the state.

"We are not penalizing any child," Mills told the House. But he warned taxpayers' revolt could wipe out welfare altogether unless limits were imposed. He said the measure ultimately should result in pushing 300,000 adult recipients off the welfare rolls and into jobs.

The bill the House approved 415 to 3 Thursday provides a minimum 12½ per cent raise for Social Security beneficiaries.

It also calls for staged increases in the payroll tax that finances the program, with a first-step maximum $44 jump—for those earning $7,600 or more annually—to begin next year. That would come by expanding the taxable base from $6,600 to $7,600. Employers of such workers also would feel the added tax bite.

TODAY'S WEATHER

Variable cloudiness with occasional periods of showers and scattered thunderstorms tonight. Clearing and cooler Saturday. Lows tonight in middle 60s. Highs Saturday near 80. Precipitation probabilities tonight 60 per cent, Saturday 20 per cent.

The temperature Friday was 69 at 7 a.m., and 80 at noon. Low Thursday night was 68.

The temperature one year ago today was high 82; low 66; two years ago, high 88; low 70; three years ago, high 91; low 67.

Lake of Ozark stage: 58.8 feet; 1.2 below full reservoir; minus .1.

Provisions Of Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key provisions of the House-passed Social Security bill, all subject to change in the Senate:

Benefits—General increase, 12½ per cent; minimum regular benefit up from $44 to $50 a month, would become effective on payments for second month after month in which bill is enacted; 24.2 million persons affected; additional benefits total $2.9 billion in 1968.

Taxes—In 1968, maximum increase of $44, produced by increasing wage base from $6,600 to $7,600; with later increases, rates reach 5.9 per cent on employer and employee in 1987 instead of 5.65 per cent provided in present law.

Earnings—At present, Social Security recipient may earn $1,500 a year without having benefits reduced; on earnings between $1,500 and $2,700 he loses $1 for each $2 earned. But in any one month, he may earn up to $125 without loss, regardless of yearly earnings. Bill would revise these figures to $1,680 instead of $1,500; $2,880 instead of $2,700, and $140 instead of $125.

Widows—For the first time, disabled widows—and dependent widowers—as young as 50 would get benefits from a deceased worker's account.

Disability—a new, tough definition of disability for retirement purposes would be spelled out. But retirement of some younger people would be facilitated by a new rule on the

Stock Of CATV Is Sought

An issue and sale of stock has been announced by First Missouri Cablevision, Inc., with the specific purpose of purchasing all the stock of Cablevision, Inc., of Sedalia.

The Sedalia firm is owned by nine local individuals and ten of 13 incorporators residing in Columbia, the home of FMC.

The 13 incorporators of FMC own 226,000 shares in their corporation and about 587,000 shares are being offered for public purchase at $2 a share.

The corporation is authorized to issue two million shares under its articles of incorporation, an announcement said.

The local owners of Cablevision are Dr. Donald C. Proctor, Dr. T. H. Hopkins, John Beatty, James Buckley, William F. Brown, W. C. Cramer, E. W. Thompson, Dr. Charles Worley and Boyd Massey.

Columbia shareholders in the local firm are Noah E. Martin, Carl F. Sapp, Larry M. Woods, B. D. Simon, Jr., Gene E. Glenn, Russell Chambers, Neilan Hart, N. R. Garrett, Jr., Max Sorin and Jack E. Brown.

amount of previous coverage required.

Servicemen—They could accumulate more Social Security credit through a provision computing their pay at $100 a month more than their actual military base pay.

Medicare—A study of extending medicare to those retired for disability would be conducted. Hospitalization days would be extended from 90 to 120, but with patients paying part of extra cost. Patients could collect on itemized bills from doctors without first paying the bills, in cases where doctors refuse to deal directly with Medicare.

Dependent children programs — States required to develop counseling, training, and community work programs for adult and work-age non-school members of assisted families. Unemployed fathers would be required to get jobs or enroll in work training programs. Part of family earnings would be exempt from reduction of welfare payments to encourage self-sufficiency. States would have to offer day care, family planning services on a voluntary basis and develop programs designed to reduce illegitimate births, establish paternity and obtain support. Extra federal financial support for required state programs would be provided. The proportion of children in aid programs to the total child population of the state could not in future exceed the proportion of January 1967.

Medicaid — Federally-aided state health programs for low-income persons would have to conform to new income standards for eligibility. The family income could not be higher than either 133 1-3 per cent of highest amount ordinarily paid to family of same size under aid to dependent children, or 133 1-3 per cent of state per capita income for comparable family.

Limitations effective Jan. 1, 1968, except that states with existing programs could use interim proportions of 150 per cent until Jan. 1, 1969, and 140 per cent until Jan. 1, 1970.

No Road Bids For This Area In August Call

The Missouri State Highway Commission has issued a call for bids on August 31 for an estimated $6,000,000 in highway construction and improvements on 30 miles of the state's highways extending into eight counties and the cities of Columbia and Jefferson City.

The call covers about a half mile of Interstate system projects; 8½ miles on the Primary system; 1.9 miles of Urban system improvements; and 19.2 miles of Secondary (farm to market) system routes. There are no projects listed for this area.

Temporary Bleachers

These are the temporary bleachers in use at the State Fair this year. The old grandstand was removed for safety reasons, and a new $600,000 grandstand will be installed for next year's fair. (Democrat-Capitol photo.)

Mrs. Lorraine Schiesselman, 1804 So. Park, a member of Christ Lutheran Church in Sedalia was one of more than 80 church school teachers and administrators attending the National Parish Education Institute at Dana College in Blair, Nebraska, August 8 and 9.

The institute is one of four conducted by the Division of Parish Education of The American Lutheran Church for approximately 400 Sunday school teachers and administrators selected from congregations across the United States.

Persons attending the national institutes will conduct 220 local area institutes this fall to provide practical training for the more than 100,000 church school teachers of The ALC.

The institute for this area will be held at Christ Lutheran Church in Stover, on September 17.

The theme for the 1967 institutes is "The Teaching Ministry." New curriculum materials are being introduced. Courses are designed to help teachers learn and use new teaching methods and skills.

To Launch Visitation Program

Nearly one million people in greater Kansas City will be given a personal invitation to attend the Billy Graham Heart of America Crusade.

The meeting is set for September 8-17 in Municipal Stadium here, and it is the first evangelistic effort for Graham in Missouri since his St. Louis Crusade in April 1953. He has never held a major Crusade in Kansas.

The visitation program is expected to be the largest effort of its kind ever held here for any purpose. And it will take a volunteer army of approximately 6,000 workers to ring doorbells on about 275,000 dwelling places.

Most invitations will be extended Sunday, August 27, when the house-to-house visitation program is launched. The volunteers will fan out Sunday afternoon from some seven hundred churches with the invitation to their neighborhoods to hear Evangelist Graham.

Topeka, Lawrence and Olathe are cities in Kansas that will participate in the house-to-house project. St. Joseph, Sedalia, and Columbia in Missouri also will have organized Crusade callers making visits in their cities.

Those answering the doorbells will not only be given a personal invitation, an offer for transportation from a local church, but a message from Mr. Graham. In the leaflet is a brief message, "Does God Matter To You" and is based on the Biblical text in St. John 3:16.

King Views Tactics As a Final Resort

An AP News Analysis
By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Racial conflict in America is moving toward a critical crossroads of new gains for Negroes—or violent insurrection, in the view of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., advocate of nonviolent tactics. King considers his plan for mass civil disobedience a last resort.

"This is something like a last plea to the nation to respond to nonviolence," he said in an interview. He said it quietly, sitting in the pastor's study at his Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"We can't continue to live like this," King said. The struggle has reached the point, he went on, that convinces him there must be some quick economic gains for Negroes.

Romney Changes War View

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan is demonstrating the difficulty potential 1968 GOP candidates are encountering in standing still in a Vietnam war position in this summer of political disquiet.

Romney, an all-but-announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was first classed as a dove, moved over among the hawks, and now is joining the critics of the North Vietnam bombing he once supported.

While House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan shrugged off his differences with his governor, Romney's contention that bombing would never end the war contrasted with Ford's call last week for a stepup in air attacks.

Romney was not the only Republican having second thoughts.

Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee, who would like to be the GOP vice presidential nominee, backed away from his previous endorsement of the air strikes.

Chafee, who will head the GOP Governors' Association next year, told a Providence, R.I., news conference Wednesday he is getting discouraged with the progress of the war and is altering his position on the bombing issue because "we're not winning to the extent we originally felt we were going to."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who has been moving steadily toward ever sharper criticism of President Johnson's war policies, told a Cincinnati, Ohio, audience that if his allies don't put up more fight the United States "must ask itself how much more it is willing to expend on a war to protect primarily Asian interests."

At Springfield, Ill., Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said although the Republicans are not making the war a campaign issue, "it's more of an issue with the people than ever before."

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, has endorsed the bombing of military targets near Red China which Percy criticized. Their differences over Vietnam policy may have something to do with Percy's reputed willingness to become Illinois' favorite-son candidate at next year's GOP presidential nominating convention.

In Minneapolis, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon broke a lengthy silence on the Vietnam issue to say he approves extension of the bombing of the North.

But Nixon, considered another contender for the GOP presidential nomination, warned a news conference the United States faces a "massive risk" if it doesn't end the war soon.

In an earlier speech Wednesday, Nixon said he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the war shouldn't be made a partisan issue in the 1968 campaign.

terness," King said. "And if there is not provided a channel of constructive action, this bitterness will lead to desperation, riots and social disruption."

If his mass civil disobedience campaign—involving boycotts, sit-ins at factories and camping in Washington—results in repressive steps by the government and by whites, then the violence "will become planned insurrection," King predicted.

King said he was motivated to announce the campaign this week by the growing violent temper of many Negroes. Asked if his new move was aimed at countering support by Black Power spokesmen, King replied that he was not singling out Black Power.

"I'm just dealing with the whole violent development," he said.

If his strategy fails, King said, "I would say to the nation, I've done my best." He said he knew of nothing else to try.

King had finished a speech to delegates to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of which he is president. He looked tired and sleepy. He answered questions in a somewhat subdued, resigned manner.

The convention reflected a similar mood. The old zeal and spirit of the movement which had logged many miles of marches and brought significant Negro advances now seemed muted.

The changed mood reflected the reality of 1967: Marches and songs and chanting "We want freedom" had been replaced by hard practicality—jobs, housing, power.

King said he saw no other course open now except civil disobedience because of what he called white recalcitrance and "the total inability and failure of Congress to grapple constructively with the problems of deprivation and poverty."

"Congress," he said, "would be very wise and just to respond constructively rather than to create a situation where our cities will continue to degenerate, create a situation where our cities will continue to degenerate."

King said plans for his latest strategy will be made at a private session of the SCLC staff within the next three weeks. He said the situation requires that the campaign begin this year, before Congress adjourns.

He decided on civil disobedience as the best tactic, he said, because it offers Negroes a militant way to seek improvements and will bring many whites back into the movement.

Can he prevent participants from turning to violence? King said he thought so. Ever Negroes who told him they took part in Cleveland's rioting last year were "willing to take up no violence," he said. The key is results, King added.

DEAR POLLY—My 1-year-old brother scribbled on our brick fireplace with crayon. My mother would like to know if any of the readers could tell her how these marks can be removed without discoloring the brick.—ANN

DEAR POLLY—Lucille asked if it is better to do all the laundry in one day and I want to tell her that it is easier for me to wash one load of clothes a day and then iron them as they dry. I had the problem of the ironing getting ahead of me until I started to wash only what could be ironed on that day and now my ironing seems a whiz.—BERNICE

DEAR POLLY—and LUCILLE—I hate to do ironing every day or every time I wash. I wash about every other day and lay aside those things that have to be ironed and wash them all on Monday and then iron them on Tuesday. This one day's ironing does all for a week.—MRS. J. K.

DEAR GIRLS—These letters prove that what is easier for one may not be for another, so we can try different ways and then find what is best in our own particular case.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I have a space-saver for the men to use in their garages. Place ¼- to ½-inch wire netting above the rafters in the garage and tack in place with small staples. This provides an ideal place to store many articles and when needed you can see exactly where they are by looking through the wire netting.—MR. A. E. J.

DEAR POLLY—I have tried many ways of doing housework so as to make the most of my time and the following works best for me: I allow myself just so many minutes for each bedroom, the bathroom, kitchen and so on. This helps overcome the temptation to take a coffee break when in the middle of a job. Also it keeps me from wandering aimlessly or from looking through a book I might pick up while dusting. It is a bit exciting to race with time and takes much of the boredom out of doing those same old jobs each day. When the work is done (and it is finished quicker) I have time for that book I wanted to look through or do other things which we are sometimes denied because we stretch our work through the 24 hours of the day.—EMMA

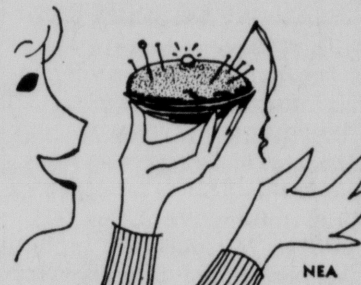

DEAR POLLY—During the many years I have kept house I have found the easiest way is to be systematic. I believe in a place for everything and after using anything put it where it belongs immediately. This includes laundry as it is done. Getting up early helps as one seems to get more done in the early hours. Go over your rooms each day or every other day, as needed, clean some thoroughly on Thursday and others on Friday and sandwich odd jobs in between. I do my work in the mornings and have the afternoons free to sew, knit or do as I please.

My family is gone now but they were taught that it is easier to keep things picked up and not let them get beyond you and they have continued this in their own homes. I like to have extra time to make things for my children and grandchildren and a bit of leisure for myself and I find system is the word that counts.—BUSY BEE

DEAR POLLY—Your column carried a letter from Peggy asking for a way to whiten a 100 per cent wool sweater "that had yellowed from dry cleaning." Dry cleaning should not cause a white sweater to turn yellow. If cloudy solvent caused it, dry cleaning again in clear solvent should correct the condition.

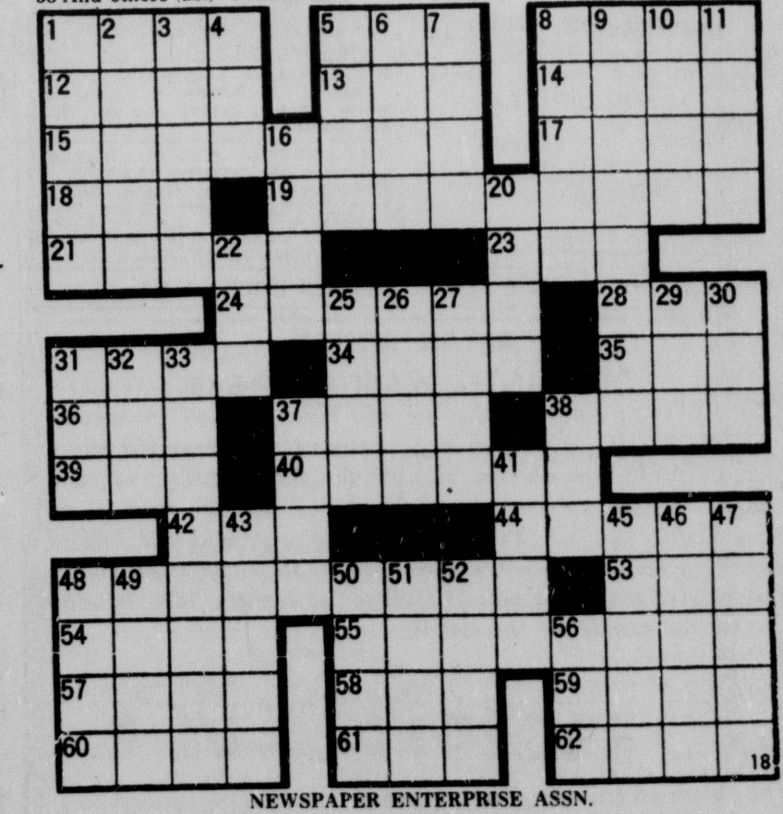

It is more likely that the sweater contains a fluorescent dye to give it a bright whiteness. Many such brighteners become yellow when exposed to sunlight or even electric light. If such a poor dye is used there will be discoloration that no dry cleaning can correct. A sweater is sent to the cleaner because it has picked up lint or stains and, when the soil is removed, the yellowness shows up. Dry cleaning does not cause it—it exposes it. If this is what happened to Peggy's sweater, the whiteness cannot be restored. Some washable fabrics might be restored to a bright whiteness after retreatment at a professional laundry.—DIRECTOR PUBLIC RELATIONS, INSTITUTE OF DRY CLEANING

DEAR POLLY—A large clam shell will make a beautiful pin cushion. First, scrub the shell. Spray with gold metallic paint. When dry, cover with a thin coat of plastic spray. To make the cushion, use shocking pink, sky blue, emerald green or any other gaily colored velveteen. Make this pillow the shape of the shell and stuff with kapok. Glue the pillow in the shell and, for a final elegant touch, glue one medium-sized pearl in the center of the cushion. Nice for gifts and bazaars.—MRS. F. S. M.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter, Lottie, is a cocktail waitress. She works in a costume which I consider indecent—short short skirt, low-cut blouse and black net hose. My wife says it is "cute."

A neighbor of ours passed away last week. Lottie said she wanted to go by the funeral home to pay her last respects, but she would have to go on her way to work—in the costume. She said she would wear a raincoat over the costume. (The raincoat is transparent.) I said Lottie would be out of place dressed like that and if she couldn't put on a skirt and blouse to stay home. My wife said she should go in her costume and raincoat if she wanted to because clothes aren't important.

Lottie decided not to go and my wife has been sulking ever since. Who was right?—BIG DADDY

Dear Daddy: I'm glad Lottie had enough sense to listen to you instead of to her mother. A cocktail waitress' outfit under a transparent raincoat is not appropriate dress for calling on a bereaved family.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is tall, dark and handsome. I'm usually proud to be seen with him. BUT—he has a very heavy beard and if we go out at night he should shave a second time.

He says he wouldn't shave twice a day for Queen Elizabeth. I told him Queen Elizabeth doesn't care if he has a beard, but I am his wife and I want him to look presentable.

Maybe I should consider myself lucky because this is the only thing I have to complain about but it really does bug me. What do you say?—MRS. FIVE O'CLOCK SHADOW

Dear Mrs.: I say if this is important to you, your husband should have a second time on special occasions. It won't kill him. For not-so-special occasions, he can slap on some talcum powder.

And now a word to the manufacturers of razor blades, shaving creams, lotions, electric razors and kindred products: I am not going to mention the name of any special brand in this column so please do not phone, write or send me any samples. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I had a darling little boy eight months after we were married. (We sent for your booklet, "Teen-age Sex and Ten Ways To Cool It" but unfortunately we were not able to cool it.)

Our son is two years old now and already he is talking in sentences. Everyone says he is the smartest child they have ever seen. One of these days he will find out when we were married and how old he is and he'll figure out that he was born "early."

I feel we should start to explain now that sometimes when people are young their emotions run away with them and they do things they shouldn't. Then he will grow up with the truth and it will not come as a shock to him. Do you agree?—THINKING AHEAD

Dear Ahead: No. Don't try to talk to a 2-year-old kid about runaway emotions! There is plenty of time for this sort of talk—like 10 years from now.

Many babies are born at seven months and I see no reason to go into detail—even later.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (C) 1967, PublishersHall Syndicate

Salinger Predicts Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. James B. Pearson said today the controversy over control of amateur sports in the United States appears no closer to a solution despite the efforts of an arbitration panel.

"I fear that it may become mandatory for the Congress to legislate a settlement in the interest of the athletes themselves and of the United States as a whole," the Kansas Republican said.

Pearson made his statement as the Senate Commerce Committee undertook to review in two days of hearings the status of efforts to resolve the dispute between the National Collegiate Athletic Association—NCAA—and the Amateur Athletic Union—AAU.

Theodore Kheel of New York, chairman of the NCAA-AAU arbitration board appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in December, 1965, was to report on the situation as it now exists and what hope, if any, he foresees for a solution to the controversy.

Creation of the arbitration panel was provided for in a resolution adopted by the Senate after the Commerce Committee expressed hope it would bring peace and unity to amateur athletics.

The long controversy has centered over the administration of track and field events but also has extended to other athletic contests.

Pearson, who has introduced a bill to provide a government settlement, said in testimony prepared for the committee hearing that "my information does not lead me to believe that the controversy is coming any closer to a settlement."

He said it was imperative to find it "what, if anything, has been accomplished" by the five-man arbitration board and what factors have hindered it in trying to find a solution.

Pearson, who traced the beginning of the dispute as far back as the 1890's—noted that the resolution adopted by the Senate in 1965 "called for a moratorium between the warring factions" during arbitration.

However, he said "there have been allegations on all sides that the imposed moratorium has been broken in many instances."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the committee chairman, said a decision on whether to conduct hearings on Pearson's bill will be made after Kheel and the parties to the dispute have been heard.

Replace Small Bridge

Near Hanoi, North Vietnamese workers fight river currents as they replace beams of a small bridge knocked out by American bombs. The official caption from a Soviet agency which distributed the photo reads, "Very important for ensuring victory over the enemy is the provision for normal traffic on all communication lines." (UPI)

Asks Larger Policy Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate hearings on the proper role of Congress and the White House in foreign affairs could develop into a flank attack on U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach defends the Johnson administration against assertions it has overstepped its constitutional role in directing foreign policy.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., denied he intended his Senate Foreign Relations Committee's hearings to become a forum in which to press his long-time opposition to Vietnam policy.

Fulbright has proposed the Senate declare Congress, as well as the President, must approve any overseas policy if it is to be deemed a national commitment.

During the past 25 years, he said at Wednesday's hearing, the White House has "acquired virtually unrestricted power" to commit the United States politically and militarily, without congressional authorization.

Fulbright also said "this war which I oppose so deeply" is tied closely to the constitutional question of congressional authority in world affairs.

He said the United States might not have intervened in Vietnam had congressional approval been required at the outset.

The State Department already has issued a policy paper declaring President Johnson has both constitutional and legislative authorization for the steps he has ordered in Vietnam.

It says the President, as Commander in Chief, has constitutional power to deploy American forces, and reports this has been done at least 125 times in U.S. history without declarations of war.

It also cites the so-called Gulf of Tonkin wresolution adopted by Congress on Aug. 7, 1964, approving and supporting Johnson measures to repel armed attack on U.S. forces and to prevent further aggression.

But historian Ruhl J. Bartlett of Tufts University told the Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday the President has no authority to send U.S. troops abroad without the approval of Congress.

He criticized the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution as a vaguely worded grant of broad powers.

Bartlett said it could be read as congressional authorization for almost any step in the Vietnam area, including an invasion of Communist China "to prevent further aggression."

On the Senate floor, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., said he was worried about published hints of a possible invasion of North Vietnam.

"This step is where I get off," said Yarborough, who has not criticized administration policy. "Any land invasion of North Vietnam would be in my opinion an utterly indefensible step. It would be escalation gone mad."

Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the Senate preparedness subcommittee that U.S. aims in Vietnam do not include the conquest of the North.

"Moreover, an expansion of the war—geographically or in number of participants—is considered contrary to United States interest," Gen. Wheeler said. President Johnson recently approved addition of 45,000 to 50,000 men to U.S. troop strength in Vietnam by next year.

Wheeler said U.S. bombing of the Communist North "is achieving its objectives and is saving American and allied lives in South Vietnam."

Johnson cracked back Wednesday at one criticism by some of his Vietnam policy foes. He declared his confidence in the effort to hold free elections in South Vietnam and said "this effort ought to be welcomed and encouraged."

Some critics have attacked the way the ruling South Vietnamese military has administered the elections.

Johnson said the military leaders have pledged to support the outcome of the elections and added: "I take that pledge most seriously." He spoke at a ceremony honoring five U.S. government employees for service in Vietnam.

Ozarks Welfare 'Waste'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A charge that federal antipoverty funds are being wasted and that they maintain the static conditions which promote a welfare-state economy was delivered at a Senate Public Works Committee hearing Wednesday from three governors in the Ozark Development Region.

John H. Opitz said he was speaking for Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, Oklahoma Gov. Dewey Bartlett and Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in his remarks to the committee.

Opitz also gave an estimate that a sustained program of economic development over the next 11 years could virtually close the income gap of the region and the rest of the nation by 1978.

The committee met Wednesday as part of a series of hearings being held to determine effectiveness of the regional development programs.

The United States still has about 800 of the Liberty freighter ships built for World War II.

Festivity Begins

Girls Supply Answer To Question of Queen

What makes a queen? Girls from all parts of Missouri will find the answer to that question Sunday, Aug. 20, at the Missouri State Fair, as the 1967 Missouri Queen of Fairs is crowned.

The girls, all from county fairs in Missouri, will compete for the title of Queen of Fairs in six categories: poise, appearance, voice, self-confidence, personal relationships, and training and experience in job skills, during the week of the Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27.

So far, entries have been received from Andrew County, Moniteau County, Washington County, Boone County, La Mar, Audrain County, Henry County, Howell County, Livingston County, Concordia, Chilhowee, Warren County, Eldon, and Kirksville, Mrs. Dean Johnson, Sedalia, superintendent, said.

"This is the most entries we've ever had this early," she said.

Festivities for the Queen of Fairs contest began Thursday, with a tea and registration for all contestants.

Friday, publicity pictures were taken and preliminary judging will start. That night, the contestants are invited to a press dinner at the home of the fair secretary, Wilbert C. Askew.

Saturday, Aug. 19, ballgown judging will begin at 8 a.m., with a luncheon, courtesy of the Missouri State Fair, at noon. At 8 p.m., practice for the pre-coronation ball will be held.

At noon, Sunday, Aug. 20, the contestants will attend the Miss Congeniality Picnic, to see one of their number named Miss Congeniality, and an afternoon rehearsal.

At 7:30 p.m., the official coronation will take place, with the 1967 Missouri State Queen of Fairs crowned by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Eagleton. She will also be presented a bouquet of roses by last year's queen, Miss Leta Jane Bock.

Six judges, four women and two men, will judge the contestants.

Ten Categories

Offer Top Premiums In Swine This Year

Premiums totaling more than $12,000 with judging in 10 categories of swine has been announced for the 1967 Missouri State Fair swine show, Dexter Davis, commissioner of agriculture, said.

Superintendents and judges for this year are: R. K. Leavitt, Columbia, superintendent; Quentin Combs, Stanberry; Eugene Rhodes, Polo; Gary Allee, California; Glen Peterson, Jefferson City, all assistant superintendents: Francis Callahan, Milford, Ill.; Harvey Okla.; Al Christian, Ames, Iowa; Prof. W. C. Stringer, and Prof. Glenn Grimes, Columbia, all judges.

Saturday, Aug. 19, breed barrows judging will begin at 1 p.m., with awards in all classes, and at 1 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 20, on-foot carcass barrows competition will be held.

At 8 a.m., Monday, Aug. 21, Polands, with total prizes of over $1,500, Duroc Jerseys, with more than $3,000 in prizes, and Yorkshires, with more than $600 will be judged.

Hampshires, with awards of more than $1,700, Berkshires, with more than $600 in prizes, and Spots, with more than $1,200 in premiums will be judged at 8 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 22.

Wednesday, Aug. 23, at 8 a.m., Chester Whites, with more than $1,500 in prizes, and Landraces, with awards totaling more than $500 will be judged.

In addition to these regular premiums, several special awards will be presented.

The Premier Sire Awards will be made by the Missouri Hampshire Swine Assn. to the exhibitor of the outstanding Hampshire boar at the 1967 Missouri State Fair. Also, the Reserve Premier Sire Award will be made to the exhibitor of the boar that ranks second to the Premier Sire.

The Hampshire Swine Registry, Peoria, Illinois, will award $60 to the exhibitor of the Grand Champion Barrow from a Hampshire breed, and $40 to the exhibitor of the Grand Champion Carcass from a Hampshire.

In addition, the Missouri Hampshire Swine Breeders Assn. will award a trophy to the Premier Exhibitor—that swine which wins the greatest total premiums at the Missouri State Fair. The same group will also award the Reserve Premier Exhibitor Award to the swine that ranks second to the Premier Exhibitor.

In addition, there will be many free attractions for fairgoers of all ages at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, such as the three-night country and western music extravaganza, The free Show-Me Arena the FFA Children's Barnyard, and 4-H and FFA exhibits.

Cash Will Appear At Fair

Johnny Cash, nationally-known folk and country singer, will be one of four free grandstand attractions at the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

At 7:30 p.m., Aug. 20, Johnny Cash will appear with his sidemen the Statler Brothers and June Carter, Mather Maybelle, the Carter Family, and the Tennessee Three, singing his best-known popular hits free to the public.

His show will kick off a three night country and western music extravaganza, featuring a different show each night.

Although his records have sold in the millions, and he composes most of his own material, Johnny Cash cannot read or write a note of "music."

He prefers to sing blues and Negro spirituals, even though his singing style has been described as mid-way between folk and country music. Johnny Cash has appeared in concert at the Newport Folk Festival, and in Tokyo, Japan, among other places.

Some of Johnny Cash's most popular releases have been "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?", "Mean-Eyed Cat", and "Johnny Yuma."

Trained, Not Tamed

To be shown at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, this zebra hitch is reportedly the world's only zebra team to harness. The zebras, owned and brought to this country from East Africa by the R. B. Rice Sausage Co., of Lee's Summit, are trained but not tamed. They will be seen at the popular Show-Me Arena as one of the many free attractions at the State Fair.

Jaycee Wives Plan Events For Summer

The Sedalia Jaycee Wives held a membership party on Aug. 8 at the home of Mrs. Tom Boehm, Smithton. Eighteen members attended with Mrs. Tom McLaughlin and Mrs. Wendell McKee as guests.

Upcoming projects of the Jaycees and Wives were announced as follows: Aug. 17-20, Queen of Fairs Contest; Aug. 19-27, selling of Missouri State Fair Programs; Aug. 25-27, summer workshop of the Missouri Jaycees and Wives at Rolla; Sept. 12, board meetings at the home of Mrs. Eddie Wise at 7:30 p.m.

TED MACK—The second annual Ted Mack Amateur Show will be one of the free entertainment features of the 1967 Missouri State Fair. He will be at the fair "in person" to present the talent selected for the show to be held Aug. 24, at 7:30 p.m. The show, featuring Missouri amateur talent, was a popular attraction at last year's state fair. The acts appearing at the 1966 fair were featured recently on an All-Missouri Review on Ted Mack's national television show.

$13,000 In Prizes For 4-H Categories

Prize money of over $13,000 with exhibits and contests in 23 categories has been announced for the 4-H exhibit at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27.

The prize money of $13,507 is an increase of $2,251 over last year's awards, Wilbert C. Askew, fair secretary, said.

Last year's exhibits totalled more than 4,000 entries from all parts of Missouri.

"This year, we expect to have more exhibitors in all divisions of the 4-H than ever before," Askew said.

The classifications for exhibits include woodwork, electricity, forestry, entomology, photography, foods, clothing, home management, child care, home grounds, money management, livestock, dairy, crops, and vegetables.

A special feature of the 4-H exhibit will be the Electric Theater demonstrations, which are designed to illustrate the uses of electricity which members have learned. The demonstrations are conducted in an air-conditioned theater, and serve also as an information for adults, showing the safe uses of electricity.

The trophy will be awarded on the basis of quality, quantity, distance from the fairgrounds, and attractiveness of the stalls. The membership of Missouri 4-H clubs totals about 40,000, and is composed of volunteers from the ages of ten to 19. The membership of each club is organized under the guidance of volunteer leaders, in cooperation with the County University Extension Division and the University of Missouri Extension Divisions.

One special feature of the 4-H exhibit will be the electricity which members have learned. The demonstrations are conducted in an air-conditioned theater, and serve also as an information center for adults, showing the safe uses of electricity.

The judges for the 1967 4-H exhibits at the Missouri State Fair are A. J. Dyer, Columbia; G. B. Thompson, Columbia; Melvin Bradley and Leland Tribble, Columbia; Glen Chapple, Green City; and L. R. Rainey, Columbia.

Free Top Shows At The Fair

Free grandstand entertainment, horse racing and horse shows will be featured for the first time at this year's Missouri State Fair.

Dexter D. Davis, commissioner of agriculture, and W. C. Askew, state fair secretary, announced the addition of these attractions to the host of others that are free at the 1967 state fair.

Grandstand entertainment this year will include a country-western extravaganza with a completely different show each of the three big nights. All will feature nationally famous radio, television and recording stars. These shows will be August 20, 22 and 23.

Missouri's finest amateur talent will again be featured August 24, in a fast-paced, one-night talent revue. Adding variety to the grandstand entertainment will be an all-day tractor pulling contest August 21. This event is being returned to the fair because of its popularity last year.

In addition to these free shows, four exciting afternoons of horse racing, August 21-24, including thoroughbred, harness, Appaloosa and Quarter Horse races, will be free to racing fans.

Horse show enthusiasts will be able to see nine top-notch shows free, of charge, August 19-27.

More attendance, an increase in general admission prices at the gate, and the inconvenience of the grandstand renovation project were cited as reasons for providing these additional free attractions.

Davis said "we are hoping to break last year's record attendance of more than 300,000 persons and we think these free attractions will stimulate larger crowds."

New gate admission prices in effect this year are as follows. Children six years of age and under, Free; children from seven through 12 years of age, 50 cents and all persons over 12 years of age, $1.

Both auto and motorcycle races will return to the 1967 state fair, and there will continue to be a charge to see these attractions. The prices of all race tickets will be: $1.50 for the old bleacher section, $2 to part of the new bleacher section, and $2.50 for 2,000 reserved seats in the new bleacher section near the finish line.

New Beef Carcass Exhibition

An all-new Beef Carcass Exhibition and Contest offering $750 in prize money will be held during the 1967 Missouri State Fair, August 19-27.

The exhibition will provide producers with information about types of beef animals desirable in today's market and will develop statistics on the quality of Missouri steers.

Beef producers will show their steers Sunday morning, Aug. 20, in the Coliseum. All steers must be halter-broken and fall within the weight limits of 900 to 1,200 pounds. There will be two classes in the premium list for the beef carcass judging: Class I, steers on foot; and Class II, steer carcasses. Ten awards will be given in each of the two classes with prizes ranging from $100 for first place to $10 for tenth place. Any firm, family or corporation may enter animals with a limit of one animal per exhibitor.

Following the live animal show, carcasses from the animals will be purchased by Missouri packers on a grade and yield basis with reference to the following items: Loin eye area, fat thickness, quality grade, estimated kidney fat and the estimated cut-out per cent. Additional money will be paid on carcasses ranking high in the yield of retail cuts.

The Champion and Reserve Champion carcasses will be returned to the state fair for display and sold by auction at the Annual Livestock Awards Dinner, August 23.

The exhibition and contest is being sponsored by the Marketing Division of the Missouri Department of Agriculture.

There are more than 2,500 species of lizard. The only two known to be poisonous are the Gila monster of the United States and the cactatepon of Mexico.

Children's Barnyard Features FFA Exhibit

Prize money of more than $13,000 in seven categories, with exhibitors from all parts of Missouri, plus the Children's Barnyard, will be featured at the Future Farmers of America exhibit at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27.

"We expect the entries to be much greater than last year in all categories of the FFA exhibits," said Wilbert C. Askew, fair secretary.

Judging will be in the following classes: beef breeding cattle, steers, dairy cattle, sheep, swine, farm mechanics, and field crops.

As a special service to the 1967 Missouri State Fair, FFA members will serve as ushers at the grandstand. The ushers for this year are Wendell Roberts, Glen Ridge, and Floyd A. Giles, Pilot Grove.

The FFA Children's Barnyard is another special feature of the FFA exhibits this year, and will present a wide variety of domestic and wild animals, and a special incubator with a glass top so that fairgoers may watch eggs as they hatch. The Children's Barnyard will be located north of the Sheep Pavilion at the Missouri State Fair.

Future Farmers of America is a national organization of boys in secondary schools studying vocational agriculture. Missouri membership totals about 12,000.

At last year's Missouri State Fair, FFA members exhibited 697 head of swine, 169 head of dairy cattle, 124 head of beef cattle, 216 head of sheep, and 295 pieces of farm equipment constructed in vocational agriculture shops in Missouri's public schools.

Judges for the 1967 FFA exhibit are A. J. Dyer, Columbia; G. B. Thompson, Columbia; John E. Cooper, Blue Springs; Marion Masters, Aurora; Glen Armentrout, Norborne; Jesse Clonts, Troy; Curtis Weston, Columbia; and Lloyd Cavanagh, Columbia.

Real 'Great' In Country Music Here

Hank Snow, one of the real "greats" of the country and western music field, will be one of four free attractions at the 1967 Missouri State Fair grandstand.

At 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 22, Hank Snow, with his musical partners Carl and Pearl Butler, Johnny Darrell, and the Lively Lesters, will sing the songs which have made him a favorite at the Grand Ole Opry for 15 years.

Among these are "Movin' On", "I Don't Hurt Anymore", "Big Wheels", and "Rhumba Boogie", all recorded with RCA Victor records.

Hank Snow has the kind of singing voice that tells of wide experiences—both musically and emotionally. From his earliest days as a sailor off the coast of Nova Scotia, to his days as a lumberjack, stevedore, and cowboy, he has consistently evolved a musical style which is unmistakable.

Johnny Darrell, who will accompany Hank Snow at the free grandstand extravaganza Aug. 22, has recently had a best-seller with "The Green, Green Grass of Home", and is also a Grand Ole Opry singer.

Following Hank Snow in the country and western extravaganza at the free grandstand will be two more top national entertainers. In all, the grandstand shows at the 1967 Missouri State Fair will present four free shows.

Poison ivy does not grow wild in Europe. The Old World heard of it in a report from Capt. John Smith, who said: "The ivy causeth redness, itching and lastly blisters. Because for a time it is somewhat painful, and in aspect dangerous, it hath gotten itself an ill name."

Canine Corps

Knight, a member of the Kansas City Police Department's canine corps, which is to appear at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, is shown here with his handler, Cpl. Ron Leslie. The dog is credited with 50 felony arrests, and is also a trained veteran of demonstrations which the department gives for school children and other public groups. Knight will be among dogs from both Kansas City and St. Louis police departments performing at the State Fair. They will appear as one of the many free attractions in the fair's recently-added Show-Me Arena.

In Fair Baking Contest

All Missouri bakers who are entered in the 1967 Missouri State Fair cookie baking contest will be eligible for the Archway Award—a $100 US Savings Bond to the baker of the best cookie.

In all, a total of over $1,500 will be offered in cash prizes in all divisions of the Home Economics division of the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

Archway is a national chain of cookie bakers and distributors of the Merit Baking Co., Boone, Iowa, who annually sponsor this competition.

Last year, Miss Kathleen Owings, Sedalia, won the Archway Award and the $100 savings bond for her raisin-nut cookies.

Miss Owings won also the Governor's Cookie Jar Award for the second straight year, at the 1966 Missouri State Fair.

The Governor's Cookie Jar is an award to the best jar of six different types of cookies, all made from six different batters and doughs. The blue ribbon jar will be presented to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

All entries to the 1967 Missouri State Fair baking contest will be judged on the basis of shape, surface, crust, filling, flavor, grain and color.

In all, there are 30 categories for contestants in the Home Economics department of the 1967 Missouri State Fair, with awards for all kinds of sewing, knitting, crocheting, weaving, and all types of cookery.

Contracts for one and two-family home construction in the United States are expected to total nearly $14 billion this year—about 12 per cent more than in 1966.

Judging In Sheep Contests

Prizes totaling more than $5,000, with judging in 46 categories for mules and draft horses has been announced for the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27, Dexter Davis, commissioner of agriculture, said.

This premium money is more than double the prizes for last year's Missouri State Fair, Davis said.

Five days of judging will make the mules and draft horse contest one of the biggest livestock features at this year's fair.

Sunday, Aug. 20, judging for the best four-mule hitch in the state of Missouri will be held, with a trophy for first place, along with $60 in cash. Cash prizes will also be given for second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth places.

Monday, Aug. 21, the six-mule hitch judging will take place in the Horse Show Coliseum. A special trophy will be awarded the first place winner, with $85 in cash. Cash prizes will go to sixth place winners also.

Tuesday, Aug. 22, judging for the best mule-in-hand and the best two-draft horse hitch will be held.

Wednesday, Aug. 23, trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to the best draft-horses-in-hand, and to the best tow-mule hitch.

Thursday, Aug. 24, the champion mules-in-hand will be awarded trophies and cash prizes.

The draft horse division will include this year Belgians and Percherons, with over $1,500 in cash prizes, in more than 20 classes, including draft horses of all ages, sexes, and types.

The mule division will include 24 classes in all, with $3,600 in prizes, for the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27.

Walkways Installed For Visitors

Two asphalt walkways, 24 feet by 700 feet, have been installed at the site of the Missouri State Fair midway to facilitate the movement of fairgoers, Wilbert Askew, fair secretary, said today.

Askew noted that other improvements are ready for the flood of visitors expected during the fair.

Razing of the 61-year-old grandstand to make room for a modern grandstand-concession building has been virtually completed. Temporary bleachers, with a seating capacity of 12,000 will be built for the 1967 fair. The new grandstand-concession building is expected to be completed in time for the 1968 Missouri State Fair.

Also completed is the resurfacing and reconditioning of the two dirt tracks at the fairgrounds.

In addition, new cattle ties, north of the Horse Show building, are now being built and will accommodate "about 60 per cent more cattle than the old ties," Askew said.

Aerospacecraft

A full-scale model of the X-15 aerospacecraft, the first winged aircraft to reach the outer edges of space, will be on display at the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

More spaceship than aircraft, the rocket-like X-15 is an experimental product of the Air Force, Navy, and National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It is being brought to the fair by the Orientation Group of the US Air Force, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Its primary use is to study the problems of re-entry into the atmosphere at speeds greater than 4,000 miles per hour, connected with aerodynamics and effects upon the pilots.

The needle-nosed X-15 is carried aloft by its B-52 "mother ship" for an 84-second flight, using more than 500,000 horsepower in a steep climb to 150,000 feet, at a speed greater than five times that of sound.

After the sudden blast of fuel, the X-15 then continues to climb by its momentum to an altitude of more than 56 miles, and is re-entered with the aid of small jets on its nose.

Since its maiden flight in 1959, the X-15 has proven invaluable for evaluating high-speed flight and re-entry problems.

The X-15 model will be on display at the 1967 Missouri State Fair daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., between the Varied Industry Building and the Commercial Building, free to the general public.

Other free attractions include the grandstand entertainment, horse racing, horse shows, the Show-Me Arena, and the many livestock and agricultural exhibits and contests.

Big Cash Prizes In Contest

Prizes, totaling three thousand dollars will be awarded to winners in the second annual tractor pulling contest to be held at the Missouri State Fair, Aug. 21.

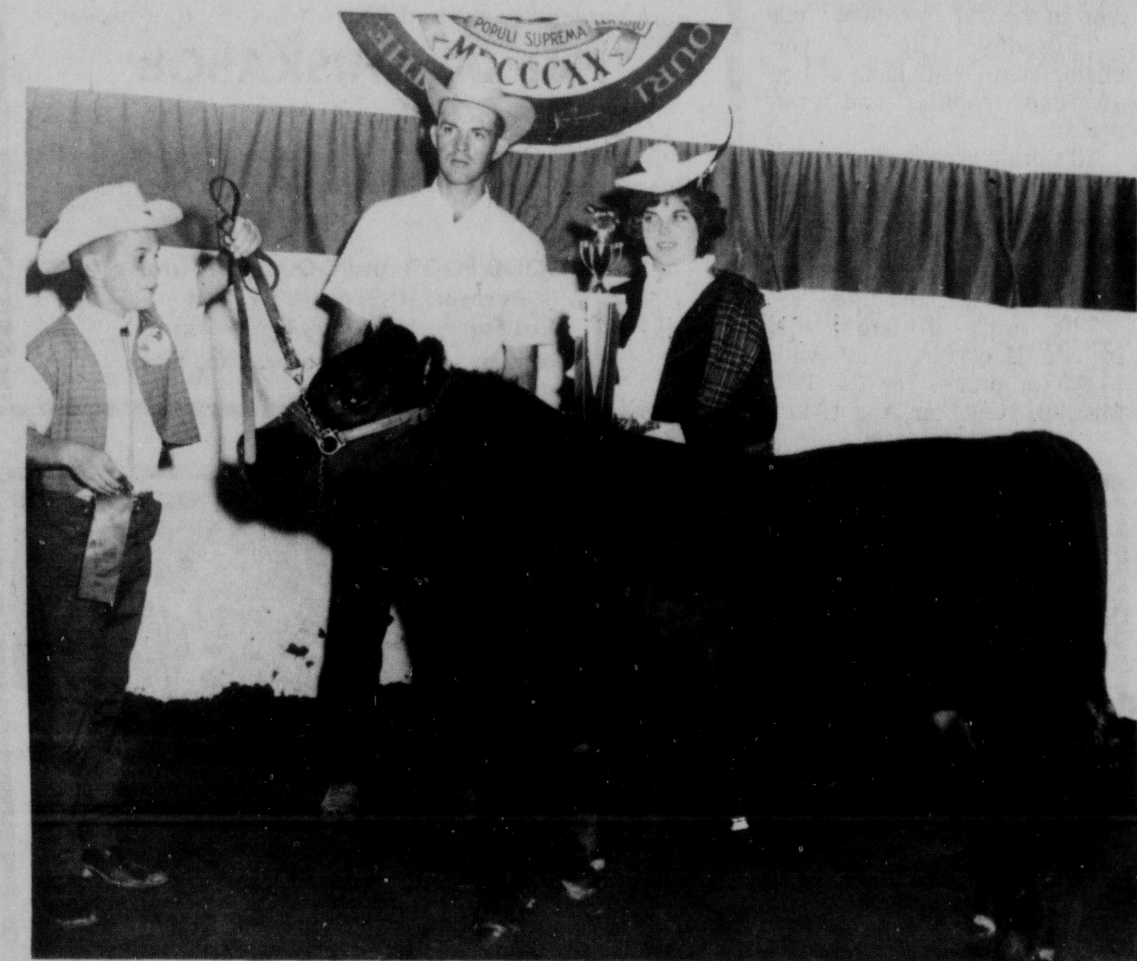

Rodney Garnett, secretary of the Missouri Tractor Pulling Association, sponsors of the contest, expects more than 130 tractors and drivers to be entered in the all-day competition.

Five cash prizes ranging from $25 to $225, will be awarded in each of the six classes to the drivers who can maneuver their tractors and weighted sleds the greatest distance. Class I consists of tractors weighing up to 4,500 pounds; Class II up to 5,500 pounds; Class III up to 7,000 pounds; Class IV up to 9,000 pounds; Class V up to 12,000 pounds; and Class VI up to 15,000 pounds.

Tractors will be weighed-in for the contest between 6:30 and 8:30 a.m., Aug. 21. Pulling for class I through IV will be in front of the grandstand at 8:30 a.m. The highlight of the contest will start at 8 p.m., when the top ten winners of classes I through IV and winners of the two heavier classes compete for top prizes.

4-H Clubs Compete

Missouri 4-H Club members will be competing for more than $13,000 in cash premiums at the 1967 Missouri State Fair. Their entries will range from beef exhibits to home management demonstrations. Last year, this Shorthorn steer owned by Joey Marsh of Columbia took championship honors in its class. Shown with Joey are Kenneth Holloway of the American Shorthorn Assn., which provided the winner's trophy, and Yvonne Houghton, 1966 Shorthorn Lassie Queen.

Barnyard Appeal To Youngsters

Have you ever watched an egg hatch? You can know, in the FFA Children's Barnyard at the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

A special feature of this popular attraction will be a glass-topped incubator where young and old alike can watch as baby chicks peck their way out of their shells.

Now in its third year at the Fair, the FFA Children's Barnyard appeals to all "youngsters" from one to 90. A free attraction, the Barnyard features many varieties of young animals as well as some adult farm animals. Displays of various types of eggs and antique farm machinery will highlight the Children's Barnyard at the 1967 Fair.

The College High School Chapter of Future Farmers of America, Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, will operate the Barnyard this year. Members of the Chapter will secure all of the exhibits and feed and care for the animals during the nine-day period of

Schedule For Draft Judging

Cash prizes totaling more than $7,000 for sheep and $240 for wool have been announced for the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

The superintendents for the sheep judging are V. B. Vandiver, Leonard; Lyman McPike, Philadelphia, Mo.; Bill Wagner, Columbia; and Hilton M. Briggs, Brookings, South Dakota.

The superintendents for the wool competition are Hank Ruckert, Kansas City; Frank Stigall, Kansas City; and J. R. Ellis, Kansas City.

"We are happy to be able to offer this increased prize money for the sheep and wool contests at the 1967 Missouri State Fair, and expect to have even more entries than last year," Wilbert C. Askew, fair secretary, said.

As a special feature of the Home Economics division of the Missouri State Fair, a "Make it Yourself with Wool" contest will be sponsored by the Missouri Sheep and Wool Growers Auxiliary and the Missouri State Fair.

A cash prize of $35 will be awarded to the maker of the best wool garment, between the ages of ten and 21, using American wool.

Types of wool recognized will be mohair, cashmere, alpaca, camel's hair, guanaco, llama, and vicuna.

The 1967 Missouri State Fair will also include agricultural exhibits and prizes in all classes of domestic animals, as well as many entertainment features.

The Air Force will bring to this year's fair a full-size model of the X-15 aerospace supersonic jet used to study re-entry problems in space flights.

Also, the Future Farmers of America will operate again this year the FFA Children's Barnyard, which will feature many varieties of domestic and wild animals, as well as a special glass incubator to enable fairgoers to watch eggs as they hatch, at the Missouri State Fair, Aug. 19-27.

There are more than 1,000 living species of bats. The largest known is the fruit bat, or kalong, of Indonesia, which has a wing span of about 5 feet.

Missouri Singer To Show Here

Missouri's own Rusty Draper, one of today's top country-western singers, will headline the final show of the three-day country-western extravaganza at the 1967 Missouri State Fair.

He will appear Wednesday, Aug. 23, at 7:30 p.m., with the Hurdy Family, Rich Gibson, and national television personality, Professor Backwards. The grandstand shows, horse races and the horse show are all free to fairgoers at this year's state fair.

Born near Kirksville, Mo., Rusty Draper moved to San Bernardino, Calif., at the age of 18 in his search for the "break" that would catapult him to fame.

After several radio appearances, he appeared on such national television shows as The Ed Sullivan Show and the Eddie Cantor Show. Real success came as his recordings, "Gambler's Guitar," and "Shifting, Whispering Sands," each attained the million mark.

Last year, Rusty Draper appeared on the half-hour musical variety television show, "Swingin' Country," with Molly Bee and Roy Clark.

At this year's state fair, he will sing many of his best-sellers for fairgoers.

The three-day country-western extravaganza will start off with the Johnny Cash Show, Sunday night, Aug. 20. Among stars appearing on this show will be Carl Perkins of "Blue Suede Shoes" fame.

On Tuesday night, Aug. 22, Hank Snow and his troupe will move in to entertain fairgoers.

Private business in the U.S. will spend an estimated $7 billion this year on research and development.

State Fair's 'Kicksville'

Missouri's teenagers aren't being forgotten in planning for the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Dexter Davis, commissioner of agriculture, said.

For the nine consecutive days of the fair, Kicksville, the new teenage dance held on the first oak-leaf shaped dance pavilion in the state, will bring top names in rock and roll to the fairgrounds.

The Buckinghams, whose best-sellers "Kind of a Drag", and "Don't You Care?" have put them at the top of national popularity, will provide the sounds for Kicksville, Monday, Aug. 21, in a three-band spectacular along with Plato and the Philosophers, and the Kyks.

One band will play each of the three hours of dancing, from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

On Aug. 23, the Bluethings will play at Kicksville, adding another top billing to the list at Kicksville.

Plato and the Philosophers, whose latest release, "C.M., I Love You" is fast climbing the best-seller lists, will entertain Aug. 20.

The Kyks, a local combo from Marshall, will provide the music for Aug. 18, Aug. 19, Aug. 22, and Aug. 24.

The excitement will reach a fever pitch Aug. 25, as the Battle of the Bands comes to Kicksville, with three rock and roll bands.

The Kyks is composed of five Marshall teen-age and college-age boys who banded together after several years of playing in different groups.

The members of the five-man Kyks are Dave Rimmer, 21, and Steve Rimmer, 27, brothers; Mark Gibson, 16; Mike Williams, 16; and Dave Moore, 16.

Their first record is scheduled to be released in a few months. The oak-leaf shaped dance pavilion for Kicksville was designed free by Brunner & Brunner Architects, St. Joseph, and the concrete for the pavilion was provided free by Howard Construction Co., Sedalia.

Included in the youth-slanted ideas being promoted will be the "Vox Box," or vox equipment booth sponsored by Sedalia and Marshall distributors, a booth displaying small cycles sponsored by Yeagers Cycle Shop, a booth displaying Coach Light records, sponsored by a Marshall firm, and a display booth of cycles sponsored by Dicks Hondas, Sedalia.

Predict Attendance Record This Year

With cash prizes totaling over $175,000 for the 1967 Missouri State Fair, plus the addition of many new attractions, Wilbert Askew, fair secretary, said he feels sure that this year's fair will break attendance records, weather permitting.

For the first time in the history of the sixty-seven-year-old Missouri State Fair, there will be free grandstand entertainment, with some of the best national country and western and folk artists performing and a one-night show featuring Missouri's finest amateur talent.

Other free attractions awaiting fairgoers include the Show-Me Arena, with Jonny Rivers diving mules, the Show-Me Talent Contest, with winners of county fairs around the state competing for top honors; fire-fighter demonstrations; the Kansas City and St. Louis Police dogs; a bait casting tournament; the FFA Children's Barnyard; trained zebras; and many more.

In addition, there will be horse, auto, and motorcycle racing, the world's largest motorized midway, and the new teenage dance sensation, Kicksville with national and state rock and roll bands providing nightly dance music for the teen set.

Among the 1967 Missouri State Fair officials are the following from this area:

California, Ed Sappington, judge, draft horses; Gary Allee, assistant superintendent, swine; and Mrs. J. R. Popejoy, assistant superintendent, foods.

Clinton, Ken Anderson, assistant superintendent 4-H department, and judge, stock judging; Green Ridge, Wendell Roberts, co-chairman, FFA grandstand ushering; Higginsville, G. Jackson Hader, assistant superintendent, horse racing.

Home Ec Activity Is Varied

Various activities at this year's State Fair will feature the Home Economics Department.

Mrs. Max Oliver, Superintendent of the Missouri State Fair said that there will be demonstrations in the kitchen by 4-H and FHA girls and a commercial feed company.

There will also be a style show with fashions supplied by the pattern companies and the National Cotton Council.

The 4-H girls will also model garments they made on "Farm Family Day" Aug. 21 and the winners of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest will have a style show on Tuesday, August 22.

The Homemakers Workshop under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Raines, will have demonstrations of interest to the "career women at home."

Other exhibits will include displays of homemade cakes, cookies and candies, canned vegetables and hand made garments for the wardrobe.

King is to Cleveland. "King badly needs a victory."

But all recognize King's importance as a symbol.

"The timing of the visit has been excellent," says city Community Relations Director Bertram Gardner, a Negro. "It came at the tipping point, when explosive elements were building up in our community. They have been explosive because they lost all hope."

"He renewed hope."

Increases In Horse Show Cash

Prize money of over $37,000 has been announced for the 1967 Missouri State Fair Horse Show, an increase of about $10,000 over last year, Dexter Davis, commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, said. Dates of the fair are Aug. 19-27.

Although the total of 1,300 made last year a record year in the number of entries, E. F. Strickler, superintendent of the horse show, said he expects even more this year.

In addition to the prize money, the 1967 horse show will include trophies in all classes, as well as ribbons, and 18 challenge trophies.

There will be 24 classes for mules and 187 classes for horses and ponies. All show horses will have suitable divisions, Strickler said.

A total of 18 divisions will be shown, all free to the public including roadster, fine harness, walking, hackney pony, harness pony, roadster pony, three gaited horse, five-gaited horse, futurity, parade, hunters and campers, equitation, western, Appaloosa, saddle club, draft horse, mules, and registered quarter horses.

Gets Certificate

Ralph Schulz of Smith Cotton School, Sedalia, has received a certificate for completion of the eight-week summer institute in chemistry, physics and mathematics at the University of Missouri at Rolla.

Bridge Barracks Hold Meeting

Old Covered Bridge Barracks, No. 820, World War I Veterans and Auxiliary held their regular meeting at Labor Hall, 1102 East Third, on Aug. 10.

The auxiliary meeting was presided over by Mrs. Madeline Stubinger, president and a report on the ice cream social held on the court house lawn on Aug. 4, was given. The proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the auxiliary projects.

Delegates elected to attend the national convention in Indianapolis, Ind., were: Mrs. Eva Brooks, first delegate, Mrs. Minnie Ratje, second delegate; Mrs. Nellie Swearingin, first alternate; Mrs. Erdus Wheatley, second alternate.

Lift Negro Up by His Own Bootstraps?

'Slavery Left Us Bootless'

(Third in a Series.)

By DON GRAFF

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — Martin Luther King moves in phalanxes of aides and admirers on his periodic visits to Cleveland, one of his self-designated "target cities" this summer.

Flying into town for a few days each week, he is on a timetable and his time is parceled out in fractions of hours.

At times there is a note of weariness in the sonorous voice as he repeats the message he has carried to cities across the country:

"We have made significant gains in defeating legal segregation, but those gains have done little to penetrate the economic deprivation of the Negro. . . . Now we are in a new phase. The struggle is for genuine equality. It is much more difficult because we are dealing with problems not necessarily mirrored in the Constitution. . . . We are dealing with issues that will cost the nation billions of dollars. It didn't cost the nation to integrate buses and lunch counters."

And: "It's a wonderful thing to say to a man that he ought to lift himself by his own bootstraps. But it's a cruel thing to say to a bootless man that he must raise himself by his own bootstraps. Centuries of slavery have left us bootless. We are not like other immigrant groups. None other was in slavery."

What does he expect to accomplish in Cleveland that local Negro leadership could not? The answer is carefully phrased:

"I can't be so immodest as to say that my presence in any city will do anything miraculous. But it has been our experience that our efforts have been able to unify Negro communities around achievable goals. We have been able to mobilize the power of protest."

The goals in Cleveland are threefold. Economically, it is to secure more Negro jobs and expand Negro financial resources. In housing, it is to "expose the evil of the slums" and to organize tenants to fight on their own behalf. Politically, it is a voter registration drive.

Results are modest to date. King's presence has not had the impact it did in Chicago last year and has been overshadowed by local politics.

A consumer boycott has wrung agreement from a major food concern to hire more Negroes. A ghetto grand jury hearing picked up some headlines in finding Cleveland, along with other northern cities, guilty of re-pressing and murdering Negroes. With a crucial city election coming up in the fall, Negroes far outnumber whites in new voter registrations. But the mayoralty candidacy of Negro Carl Stokes probably has more to do with this than King's efforts.

CLEVELAND'S GHETTO still bears the scars of last year's riots.

He also has stirred some dissension in the Negro community.

Some disgruntled quarters have been heard to complain that King did not invite local leadership into his councils.

Not quite true, retorts a chief aide, the Rev. A. R. Sampson.

The meetings are open. They can come if they want to."

Some see boosting the prestige of Cleveland's Negro clergy, heretofore largely apathetic on civil rights issues, as one of King's primary aims.

"Aren't the pastors leaders?" asks Sampson.

Sampson, 28, Boston-born and with King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference headquarters in Atlanta, is typical of the inner core of the campaign here. It is not native to Cleveland.

Officially, the sponsor is Cleveland's United Pastor Association, a Negro organization that sprang into existence in the spring.

Earlier this year, an effort was made to pull the Negro clergy together for a voter registration and education drive. It failed.

"The next thing we knew," says Charles Loeb, managing editor of the Negro weekly Call & Post, "the pastors had issued an invitation to King."

King rejects any suggestion that he could have a divisive rather than unifying effect, as he rejects assertions that his 1966 Chicago campaign left the civil rights movement there worse off than it had been.

The trouble in Chicago was that the campaign became entangled in politics. "It was made out that I was trying to bring down (Mayor) Daley, which was not the case."

Nor is it the case, he says, that he is out after Cleveland's harassed Mayor Ralph S. Locher, although he has endorsed Stokes. He has resolutely turned the other cheek to Locher's refusal to see him, when Locher dismissed King as an "extremist."

"I don't think he is being as smart politically as he thinks he is," is King's only response.

Critics are inclined to see King's impact on even Cleveland's Negro community as more apparent than real. Negro attention, they say, is preoccupied with the Stokes' campaign.

"I think the civil rights people will have to recognize that this is not their summer," says Negro councilman George Forbes. "This is the politician's summer."

Loeb sees Cleveland as more important to King than

Blowing Out Your Brains

There are two ways to blow out your brains: one is with a shotgun, the other with your tongue. The first is fatal to continued pleasant association with fellow men and women on this mundane sphere; the other, when you stop to think about it, is almost equally as fatal.

This observation stems from overhearing two men conversing on Ohio avenue, one leaning against a traffic light post. Both worked in the same organization. The light post leaner was complaining that for sometime past he wasn't getting the usual inside information that percolates around most business establishments—shop gossip or scuttlebutt it is called.

The listener spoke out finally in explanation:

"I'll tell you, John. If your brains were dynamite you couldn't blow off the top of your head. Everytime you do get some of the office lowdown, you can't wait until you start spilling it in the wrong place at the wrong time, to the wrong person. The fellows have finally found you out so they shut up like a clam when you're around. And another thing—someday you're going to accidentally cross up the boss the same way and quickly work yourself out of a job. If I were you I'd start using some sense....."

I walked on. I'd heard enough to make a paragraph to pass along to others for whatever it is worth. Back east, I once knew a fellow like the light post leaner.

Prepare Reprimand for Carmichael

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—The board of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, meeting secretly in Atlanta, has voted to reprimand its former chief, Stokely Carmichael, if he should ever return from his Communist vacation.

The FBI has learned from reliable sources that he may be heading for Hanoi and Peking. Then he may seek sanctuary in France instead of returning to face the music in the United States.

The SNCC board, whose members have no aversion to fiery oratory, decided Carmichael had gone too far in calling for guerrilla warfare to overthrow the U.S. government. His incendiary speeches in Havana have alienated SNCC backers who are militant about black power but unwilling to support revolution.

Result: The Carmichael publicity has hit SNCC hard in the pocketbook.

For that matter, SNCC already had lost most of its liberal white backing since excluding whites from its policy councils and switching its appeal from nonviolence to violence. The present SNCC chief, H. Rap Brown, is also an apostle of violence.

Two other SNCC activists, Julius Lester and George Ware, accompanied Carmichael to Havana. Lester was seen dressed in a Cuban army uniform, which may be grounds for revoking his American citizenship.

Still another SNCC leader, Cleveland Sellers, turned up in Tokyo to attend a Communist-called convention. He was outspoken as Carmichael in preaching the Peking line.

Meanwhile, the FBI is quietly building a case against both Carmichael and Brown. Every recorded speech and statement made by the two firebrands is being carefully studied. Their inflammatory statements are also being checked against audience reaction for evidence that the listeners were incited to commit violence.

The chief legal obstacle will be persuading the courts to admit recordings and transcripts as evidence. However, this can be overcome by producing witnesses to verify what was said. In any case, President Johnson is determined to crack down on Negro leaders who preach violence and treason.

Note: The SNCC board became disenchanted with Carmichael when he gave up his $4,500-a-year job as their head man to capitalize on his notoriety. He began demanding $1,200 to $1,800 for speeches, which he delivered at the rate of two or three a week. When the University of Minnesota raised only $1,300 of a promised $1,800, for example, Carmichael was furious.

—Put Up Or Shut Up—

This column has already suggested that Congress can finance the Vietnam war without hitting up the taxpayers for a 10 per cent increase simply by closing the tax loopholes.

Then the oil millionaires, who talk a lot about patriotism, can put their money where their mouths are. While others pay for the combat planes, the oilmen spend their tax benefits on private planes.

Meanwhile, the taxpayers go on subsidizing oil and gas from the time the first drill bites into the dust until the refined oil is sold on the market.

The biggest tax drainage comes from the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. The taxpayers are also partners in all dry holes but do not share in the gushers. Finally, they are obliged to pay rigged prices for the oil they consume.

Oil prices have been inflated by the Interior Department's import program, which limits oil shipments into the country. Explained interior solicitor Frank J. Barry to a House Appropriations Subcommittee earlier this year: "Foreign crude can come in from the Middle East and land in San Francisco and be sold for 50 cents a barrel....I understand domestic crude in the west is $2.10 a barrel."

What happens to the $1.60 difference? The happy oil importer pockets it.

Actually, the price difference ranges from $1.20 to $1.60 a barrel. Multiplied by some 900,000,000 barrels of imported oil, this amounts to a bonanza of close to $1.5 billion a year.

One of the biggest importers is Phillips

Too bad he never listened to such a lecture as the Sedalian gave. He, too, was a gossip peddler. He blew out his brains—only the last time with a gun.

New Intellect Test?

If the churning of your washing machine or the humming of your refrigerator makes you irritable, congratulate yourself. You're smarter than the average bear.

That's what researchers at the Acoustics and Seismics Laboratory of the University of Michigan's Institute of Science and Technology claim.

With nothing better to do, they exposed volunteers, also with nothing better to do, to "applicane-like acoustical stimuli"—noise, that is.

The findings, they announce, show that "there can be little doubt that college-educated individuals are more bothered with sound stimuli presented than the remainder of the population."

The experiments disclosed some other significant things. For instance, those who were most bothered by the noise, although they were college graduates, did not necessarily have high incomes.

And those who completed high school seemed slightly less bothered than those who attended high school but did not—get this, now—did NOT receive a diploma.

The variables of the parameters elucidated by this research are truly complex and thought-provoking.

Petroleum, which had the good judgement to hire Oscar Chapman, a former Secretary of the Interior, to speak to his former subordinates about import quotas.

Phillips has had such a good fortune in wangling profitable quotas that Rep. Charles Joelson, D-N.J., was moved to comment at the appropriations hearings: "I am beginning to understand why Phillips is called the oil that won the west."

The results of these abundant federal blessings can be seen, first of all, in the oil companies' tax returns. The top 22 refiners, with a gross profit of more than $5.1 billion in 1964, paid only 4 per cent of their gross profit as U.S. income tax.

The rate for wage earners and small businessmen is around 20 per cent. For the average corporation it runs close to 49 per cent.

These statistics were released by the usually humorous internal revenue service in a pamphlet decorated by a rambling ranch house, swimming pools, and bikini-clad bathing beauties against a background of oil derricks. The ironic montage was removed after complaints from sensitive oil producers, who were not at all amused.

What They Say

JIM STARK (In the Green Ridge Local News)—There's not much doubt about it—the coons are winning the Battle of the Sweetcorn Patch in the Green Ridge area.

There's nothing a coon likes better than a meal of corn on the cob served right in the corn patch and community residents have been trying just about everything they can think of to keep the animals out of the corn this year.

Reports reaching us indicate that at least the following methods have been tried—and we might add—most of them unsuccessfully, in the sweetcorn battle—1. Surrounding the patch with a ring of newspapers. It is said that the coons won't cross the paper to get into the field. 2. Installing a light or lights in the corn. It is said that the coons won't go into a field where there is a light. 3. Put a radio in the sweetcorn patch. It is said that the coons won't go into the field where a radio is being played loudly.

We passed a neighbor's sweetcorn patch the other night and guess what we saw! Smack dab in the middle sat a big coon under a light, listening to the radio, reading the newspaper and eating his sweetcorn!

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien (Washington D.C.)—The new Sedalia post office is expected to be completed 17 months after the plans are approved. Space in the Federal Building located on the southwest corner of Fourth and Lamine Streets will then be abandoned for postal purposes.

The pressing need for modern buildings, necessary for efficient mail processing and improved working conditions for our employees, is one of the most significant roadblocks to better postal service. Completion of the new Sedalia structure will assist us in fulfilling President Johnson's mandate to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

Because the building will be privately owned, the land will stay on local tax rolls. The Post Office Department's capital investment is limited primarily to postal equipment.

The nation is experiencing a dramatic expansion in mail volume and services. Post office construction and remodeling is undertaken in areas showing the most urgent needs.

Our 40,000 postal locations will handle nearly 80 billion pieces of mail this year, over 100 billion pieces well before 1980. To process this tremendous amount of mail, the Department is expanding its efforts to put mechanized tools into the hands of the nation's postal workers in areas where it is economically justified.

Aspirations of Zionism, Judaism Differ but Overlap

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the most baffling questions for American Christians has been the resurgence of Zionism. The Holy Land conflict has drawn emotional support from the Jewish community in this country that has been translated into several millions of dollars for Israel.

Commentators in the press and on radio and television have taken to finding Old Testament texts for the Sinai strategy of Gen. Moshe Dayan. Billy Graham told London reporters that it was all there in the Bible, prophecy being fulfilled before your eyes. (But he hastened to add that Vietnam was not in scripture, hence he was not prepared to comment on the destiny of that war.)

What has not been clear—only more thoroughly confused—is the merging of Judaism and Zionism in the mind of the public. They are not one cloth, although the two forces often overlap. Judaism is a world religion—with or without Israel as a homeland. The major branches of Judaism—Orthodox, Conservative, and Reformed—are not automatically pushing their people to return to the Holy Lands.

The members of this religious community are part of the nations in which they live. Whether they live in Great Britain or Mexico or Brazil, they are citizens of that country. Their religious identification may be Jewish but their belonging to the national life is the same as Catholics, Presbyterians or Mormons.

The Zionist movement has been primarily a "secular dream," to use the words of Dr. Willard Oxtoby of Yale University. The aspirations of the Zionists have been fulfilled in the establishment of a socialist government supported by a Hebrew-speaking people. There is indeed a strong religious passion in Zionism that combines national goals and divine destiny.

David Ben Gurion, writing in his book, "David Ben Gurion Looks Back," believes that the prophets pointed to "the restoration of Jewish national life on its own soil and for the establishment there of a model society which will become a 'light unto the nations.' Through it will come universal redemption, the reign of righteousness and human brotherhood and the elimination of wickedness."

Thus we have Zionists with no religious interest in Judaism, but a keen intensity for a Hebrew-speaking people and nation in the Holy Land. We have Judaism, a worldwide religious community, with its own national loyalties and attachments, yet concerned for Israel.

And to further stir the pot, there are Christian Zionists who were led in the 19th century by the Rev. William Hechler, an Anglican priest. Hechler urged the Christian community to support the political Zionism of Theodore Herzl at the turn of the century.

Rev. Hechler believed in an imminent Second Coming of Christ. He taught that the return of Jesus would signal his rule from the Holy Land. He was convinced that the Jews would hail him as the Messiah. Christians and the Chosen People would govern the world.

Though tiny, this Christian Zionist sect is still active. They were greatly encouraged by the recent military adventures that recaptured Jerusalem.

Out of all this shooting and shouting, we must hold to this truth: The Holy Land provides sacred history for Christians, Jews and Moslems. Any future settlement will be only as stable as the considerations given to each group. They all share the gift of life, not by Nasser or Ben Gurion or Hussein—but by God.

The Rev. Poling is associate editor of the Christian Herald.

Death May Be Brass Ring On LSD Merry-go Round

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

(Last of two related articles.)

Although there is every indication that LSD is a dangerous drug and although it cannot be bought legally, it is taken by many young persons to escape from a life that, with sober effort, they could set about to improve.

In many users this has proved to be an escape into an unreality that is a nightmare more horrible than reality at its most depressing. LSD may make you think it is Christmas in July but the gaily colored package under the tree may be death.

Fortunately for those who have been hooked on this drug, which is not truly habit-forming but which may have left them in a state of panic or mental confusion, a cure is available. The victim must usually be treated in a hospital to make sure he does not harm himself or others. Chlorpromazine or a similar drug has been found to be very helpful.

While we are on the subject, I would like to refer to two other reputedly hallucinogenic drugs (drugs that cause you to enter a dream world without actually going to sleep).

The first, not yet given a chemical name, is contained in dried scrapings from banana peels. The Food and Drug Administration spent two months investigating this substance, using every formula known to the hippies, and was unable to find any hallucinogenic properties in it. This, therefore, appears to be a giant hoax and those who claim to be transported by smoking banana peelings are either undergoing self-hypnosis or have reinforced their banana peel with a dollop of marijuana or LSD.

A new and more serious problem is the emergence of methyl dimethoxy methyl phenethylamine, a compound that for some unknown reason is called STP. Capsules or tablets of this substance can be obtained only from illicit sources and at about the same price as LSD. Its effects are similar to those of LSD and just as unpredictable.

Granted that this is not a perfect world, those persons who seek to escape from it through the use of drugs are sadly lacking in a sense of responsibility. They are the ones who, instead of trying to make this a better world, have given up without a struggle.

The unlucky expert caught us by the arms. As usual his eyes were filled with tears and his voice cracked time and again as he told his sad story.

"I was playing in a mixed pair game with a partner who could be depended on to avoid playing no-trump contracts as much as possible. Therefore she opened one spade and raised me to three no-trump after I had pulled myself together and responded to her spade opening."

"What's so sad about that?" we asked. "You probably made a lot of tricks."

"I went down one trick," he moaned. "And there was no way for me to make my contract."

We looked over the hand carefully. Finally we saw that if West happens to open the ten of clubs there is no play for the contract. We asked if that had happened and he replied:

"It certainly did. The Professor was sitting West and he must have led it in an effort to impress his favorite pupil, who was sitting East. I did the best I could by playing dummy's jack of clubs. The pupil thought awhile and might well have tried to preserve her queen of clubs for the dim and distant future but finally played it. There was a long pause after I played my four spot and eventually someone told her that her queen had held the trick. Another pause and back came the three of clubs. West played the king and I held off with dummy's ace but another club knocked it out. I led dummy's queen of diamonds in the hope that West would hold the ace. East had no problem this time. She grabbed the ace and cashed her last two clubs."

The unlucky expert staggered away and we have to admit that he was unlucky this time. If North plays the hand a club lead from East can't hurt him. He will make at least four no-trump. The same applies if South plays the hand and West leads any card but the ten of clubs.

Democrat Pickups

Walking down the street one day a woman saw a reflection of a woman's legs in a store window.

"That poor woman has the skinniest legs," she thought to herself. And then she turned and looked back of her to see who the legs belonged to.

There wasn't anyone back of her. Then she realized that the reflection she saw was hers and those were her own legs.

The World Today

Self-Righteous On Viet Vote

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The news out of South Vietnam was so unpleasant, with reports the Sept. 3 presidential election may be rigged, that Congress bubbled with indignation and President Johnson had to step in.

He warned the military leaders, whose top men are running the nation now and are up for election, that crooked balloting would cost South Vietnam the support of the American people.

Whether or not the American indignation is justified, it seems a little self-righteous.

It appears to be asking the South Vietnamese people, with no real experience in politics or democracy, to achieve suddenly an ideal political purity which this country has found trouble achieving after almost two centuries of elections.

In this century Americans have been beaten up in American polling booths. There has been widespread political corruption. The Senate still finds it necessary to check on some of its members' campaign funds and how they got the money.

And it wasn't until 1965 that Congress passed a law to make it possible for thousands of Negroes in the South to vote for the first time.

The basis for the American indignation, of course, is that American lives and wealth are being spent in Vietnam to help the people there to self-determination as Johnson explained.

But even if the elections are honest, or fairly honest, undoubtedly there will be new troubles for Johnson to endure at a time when so many Americans are divided about the war, wanting the bombing stopped or the war stopped.

For instance, Thich Tri Quang, the militant Buddhist monk, has indicated Vietnam may be in for another burst of Buddhist riots if Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now chief of state, is elected president.

Thieu, along with Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, now premier and running for vice president on the ticket with Thieu, is part of the military group which is and has been for years giving Vietnam the only government it has.

It was a recent remark by Ky—that the ruling military junta would overthrow any government winning the election by fraud—which prompted the outcries in Congress.

But from the moment the elections were arranged, Americans had reason to be skeptical about the outcome or the ability or stability of any government which was not run by the military. The history of South Vietnam, since the French were driven out in 1954, has been a history of dictatorship, no matter how thinly disguised, by one man or a group, and a succession of coups by military men anxious to take power.

If nonmilitary candidates won the election they couldn't survive without the help and obedience of the military.

Therefore, remembering the political history of the country since 1954, and the unsophisticated political condition of the masses of peasants who have had no more experience in the ideals of democracy than in the ideals of communism, it should be no surprise that if civilians won the election honestly, they were then tossed out by the military, after a decent interval for American benefit.

But the reports from Vietnam point to the likelihood that Thieu and Ky will win the election easily. They have the advantage, from their years of public exposure, of being better known to the voters than any of their rivals.

No doubt Johnson and his advisers would be glad to see the Thieu-Ky team win, but not under scandalous circumstance, since they have shown some stability and this government has had prolonged experience in dealing with them. Any of their inexperienced rivals would be a new and unknown quantity for the Americans.

Johnson has expressed more patience and tolerance than some of the critics. He said this week the elections "might not be without a blemish" but he urged against being too critical.

"We cannot impose impossible standards for a young nation at war," he said.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Louis E. Alley, principal of Jefferson school, has resigned to accept a teaching fellowship in the training school at the University of Iowa. L. A. Van Dyke, formerly of Sedalia, is director of the school.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Sedalia's park for Negro people, heretofore known as Dunbar Park, named for a Negro poet, will hereafter be named Hubbard's Park following action taken by City Council. The change was made at the request of Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton, Sedalia's foremost citizen, for whom the city was named. Among other donations to the city, Mrs. Cotton gave the ground for Dunbar Park, located in North Sedalia.

For Wert

Mathews Ideal As Replacement

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Mathews was grinning as he sat in the Houston dressing room.

"I've never seen the Detroit ball park," he said, and the grin stretched. "But I hear it's a good hitters' ball park."

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith was grinning even more. He'd just moved into third place in the miser-tight American League pennant race and found, in Mathews, the ideal replacement for injured third baseman Don Wert.

The trade of Mathews, one of the all-time great home run hitters, from the Astros to Detroit, was engineered late Thursday night shortly after the Tigers had arrived home from a 7-4, 10-inning victory at Boston that put them back in third place, three games back of leading Minnesota.

"We're going to find out in a hurry whether we'll have a shot at them," Smith said. "We have doubleheaders with them Tuesday and Wednesday and a single game Thursday."

Before that, the Tigers have a weekend series with Cleveland, which ousted Washington 8-3 in 16 innings. Baltimore stopped New York 4-1 in the only other American League game scheduled Thursday.

In the National League, Philadelphia topped Chicago 5-2 in 12 innings. Houston shut out Los Angeles 4-0 and the New York Mets and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader, the Mets winning 6-5 in the opener and the Pirates taking the nightcap by the same score in 14 innings. San Francisco, Atlanta, St. Louis and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Mathews, 36, who has 503 career home runs, will be at third for the Tigers tonight for the series opener with Cleveland, replacing Wert who pulled a groin muscle Sunday and will be out for two or three weeks.

He had played first base most of the season at Houston, but has no chance of moving Norm Cash out of that position at Detroit and will play third.

Corbin Among Top Drivers

One of the most promising of the younger crop of Midwestern sprint car drivers is a central Missouri product who began his racing career on the modified stock car tracks for which this section of the country is famous.

He's 27-year-old Tom Corbin of Carrollton, who in recent weeks has exhibited steadily increasing skill to the point where he won his first sprint car feature two weeks ago at Granite City, Ill., racing against some of the best in International Motor Contest Association ranks.

Fourth places at Des Moines and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, then finished second twice at Knoxville, Ill. His most recent outing was a second at Eldon, Iowa.

This week end at Sedalia, Corbin will drive in the Missouri State Fair's opening sprint car race on the half-mile track Saturday afternoon and then will move into a supermodified car Saturday night for an effort to qualify for the state championship supermodified race slated Friday night, Aug. 25.

A veteran of seven years' racing, Corbin has had by far his greatest success this season and gives much of the credit to the car he is driving. The machine is the former Don Brown sprinter purchased last winter by Don Green of Carrollton, for whom Corbin has driven most since he ran his first race at Marshall in 1960.

"The car 'works' good," he says, "and I feel comfortable and confident in it at all times." Tom is lavish in his praise of Brown, nationally known as a car builder, who made the car available after having completed a new roadster-type sprinter which also will be in action here.

Corbin, a 1957 graduate of Lexington High School, continues to drive a supermodified for George Miller of Carrollton and, as leader in the Central Missouri Racing Association point standings, will be among the favorites in the scramble for the state crown in that racing division.

Cash was key to Detroit's victory over Boston, diving in the winning run with a two-out triple in the 10th. Two walks and two errors let in the other extra-inning runs. Willie Horton hit two homers and Al Kaline one before the Red Sox tied it with a three-run rally in the eighth.

Gene Brabender pitched a four-hitter, including Roy White's homer, and got key hitting support from Paul Blair in leading the Orioles over the Yankees. Blair broke up a scoreless duel in the seventh with a run scoring double and ignited a three-run ninth inning with a triple.

Vic Davalillo's bases-loaded triple was the highlight of a five-run, 16th inning rally that carried the Indians past Washington. Chuck Hinton opened the big inning with a single and was forced across by three straight walks. Davalillo delivered three more with his triple, then scored on Tony Horton's double.

Frank Howard hit his 30th homer of the season for the Senators.

Just The Beginning For King

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"This was just the beginning," gushed a pert blonde Air Force lieutenant Thursday after she won the one-meter springboard diving title at the annual Women's National AAU Swimming and diving championships.

Micki King, who nine months ago started a tour of duty with the ROTC detachment at the University of Michigan, was looking ahead to today's three-meter competition and a possible double triumph. She said she wouldn't be adverse to also winning the 10-meter platform event, and an eventual Olympic berth.

The three-meter competition was one of six finals scheduled for today, the second of the four-day annual Nationals. Also up for grabs were titles in the 100-meter backstroke, 400-meter freestyle, 200-meter individual medley, 800-meter freestyle relay, and one of two men's events in the show, the 100-meter freestyle.

There was only one event on Thursday's schedule and Miss King, who has been diving since she was 10 years old in Pontiac, Mich., won that with a score of 407.80. She upset Mrs. Joel Lenzi O'Connell, the defending one-meter champion of Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club.

Mrs. O'Connell totaled 382.85 in her unsuccessful bid for a third straight outdoor AAU title. Lesley Bush, the Olympic platform diving champion, and indoor one-meter board queen, finished third with 377.90; Sally Sheffer of Philadelphia was fourth at 365.00, and Keala O'Sullivan was fifth with 363.75.

Big Lead Goes Against Houston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals took a six-game winning streak and a 10½ game National League lead into Houston tonight as they opened a ten day road trip.

Steve Carlton is scheduled to start on the mound for the Cardinals. He carries a 10 and 6 record into the game against the Astros. Mike Cuellar, seeking his 12th victory against the eight losses, will be on the mound for Houston.

Following a four-game series with the Astros, the Cards will move on to the West Coast for meetings with the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants.

Kansas City also is on the road, opening a three-game series tonight in Washington. Jim Hunter will pitch for the A's and Frank Bertina for the Senators.

St. Louis and Kansas City were idle Thursday.

Leo Durocher kicked the sleeping dog, and it nearly bit off his leg.

Durocher, playing the percentages, ordered Philadelphia's Tony Gonzalez intentionally walked in the 12th inning of Thursday night's game to pitch to Rich Allen.

Now ordinarily that wouldn't qualify as a terribly safe move. But Chicago pitchers had retired Allen four times and, with Cookie Rojas on second carrying the winning run, a walk to Gonzalez did set up a potential double play that could get the Cubs out of the inning.

Instead, the strategy got them right out of the ball game. Allen hammered his 20th home run, over the right field wall, giving the Phillies a 5-2 victory.

In the only other National League game, Houston blanked Los Angeles 4-0 behind Dave Giusti and New York split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning 6-5 and then losing by the same score in 14 innings.

In the American League, Detroit downed Boston 7-4 in 10 innings. Baltimore dropped New York 4-1 and Cleveland outlasted Washington 8-3 in 16 innings.

Rojas had opened the Phillies 12th with a single and was sacrificed to second. Then Durocher ordered the intentional walk to Gonzalez and Allen made him regret the move.

Ferguson Jenkins, looking for his 17th victory, took a 2-1 lead into the ninth but singles by Johnny Callison, Clay Dalrymple and Gary Sutherland, tied it for Philadelphia.

The Cubs nicked Philadelphia starter Rick Wise for single runs in the fourth and sixth, with singles by Clarence Jones and Adolpho Phillips driving them across. Tony Taylor's sixth inning single drove in the Phillies' first run in the sixth and ended a scoreless earned run string at 25 innings for Jenkins.

Giusti scattered eight hits against the Dodgers and Ron Davis' three-run double drove in all the runs he needed.

The Astros loaded the bases in the fifth on singles by Julio Gotay and Doug Rader and a walk to Rusty Staub. Then Davis' long double scored all three runs. A wild pitch and Bob Aspromonte's single drove in Davis.

It was the first shutout this season for Giusti, who won his ninth game. After the game, the Astros announced the trade of Ed Mathews to the Detroit Tigers.

Bud Harrelson's first major league homer, an inside-the-park shot that eluded Pittsburgh rightfielder Al Luplow, broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning of the first game and helped the Mets to their victory.

Harrelson popped the ball into short right, and Luplow missed a shoestring catch and then lost the ball in the Pirate bullpen as Harrelson circled the bases.

Juan Pizarro, loser in the opener, came out of the bullpen and picked up the second game victory when Manny Mota singled Roberto Clemente across with the winning run in the 14th inning. Clemente, who drove in the tying run in the ninth inning, started the winning rally with a single.

The Mets collected 34 hits in the doubleheader—seven of them by Cleon Jones. Pittsburgh had 29 hits in the two games.

Horseshoe Pitchers To Take 'Break'

The weekly Thursday night horseshoe pitching tournament held at Liberty Park will take a leave this next week due to fair week. But most of the "pitchers" will take part in the Missouri State Championships to be held next weekend at the fair.

Thursday night Warrensburg contestants took the top three spots. B. Stowe had 9-0; J. Nichol 8-1; R. Plute 7-2; with the next three being Sedalians S. Harlan 6-3; C. Faulkner 4-5; and G. Greer 4-5. T. Todd, Warrensburg tied with Faulkner and Greer with a 4-5. B. Larson, Sedalia 2-7; E. Stumpf, Sedalia, 1-8; and J. Smith, Warrensburg, 0-9.

Champion Returns

Sprint Car Champion in 1965-66, on the International Motor Car Association Circuit, Jerry Richert is shown in his Frank Wagner Chevy Special. Richert has signed his entry application for the Big Car races at the Missouri State Fair hoping to build up points in the two big car events scheduled here for another championship.

Moughan Favored In Races

One of the smoothest and most consistent dirt track drivers in the United States, Gentleman Jim Moughan of Springfield, Ill., will be a heavy pre-race favorite when the green flag drops on the all-star field of cars and drivers in the IMCA Grand championship sprint car races, opening the Missouri State Fair here, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 19.

Moughan, runnerup for the 1966 IMCA driving crown, hopes to duplicate his feat of winning the 30-lap feature, which he did last year and set a new record to boot. The IMCA record book also lists him in possession of the 10-lap record for the fast Sedalia half-mile.

The soft-spoken Springfield ace, served notice that he was out to capture the '67 title in no uncertain terms when he turned back the challenge of a large field and won the 14th annual Hawkeye Futurity.

Gentleman Jim has stepped out of the Hector Honore "Black Deuce" and will drive the revamped Merle Heath Chevy at Sedalia. The cagey Honore has reached out and picked up a new youngster, Don "Itch" Daniels as potential championship timber, for the car that captured the IMCA title seven times.

The roster for the two-day IMCA meet, with the second program slated for the one mile oval, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 27, is rapidly increasing. The latest entrant was Don Brown of San Bernardino, California, who is bringing a new roadster-type sprinter that is expected to be an innovation in dirt track racing. The driver-engineer built similar cars for Greg Weld, now leading the USAC sprint car circuit and Joe Saldana of Lincoln, one of Brown's proteges. A field of over 35 cars and drivers is expected to qualify here Saturday afternoon.

Three IMCA late model stock car races will be held Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20 and again Saturday afternoon and night, Aug. 26.

Billie Resumes Bid For Title

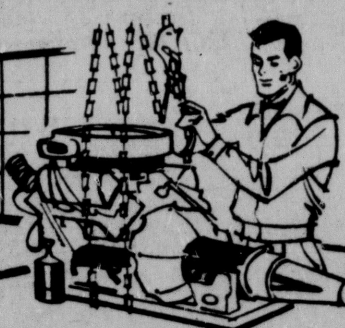

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Top-seeded Billie Jean King, the Wimbledon queen from Long Beach, Calif., resumed her quest for a third Essex Country Club Women's Tennis Championship today in a quarter-final match with seventh-seeded Virginia Wade of England.

Mrs. King, the Essex winner in 1964 and '65, wasted little time in advancing through the third round Thursday as she whipped Esme Emanuel of South Africa 6-1, 6-2.

Defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil, seeded No. 2, sailed through her third round match Wednesday. Her quarter-final opponent was Winnie Shaw, British Wightman Cup player from Scotland.

Other quarter-finals sent Rosemary Casals of San Francisco against eighth-seeded Kerry Melville of Australia, and Mrs. Joyce Williams of England against Karen Krantzcke of Australia in a duel of unseeded players.

Cowboys Ready For Green Bay

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have lived with the bitter memory of last New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl for almost eight months now. They have had ample time to examine, re-examine and dissect every phase of their failure to score from the two in the frantic final seconds of the NFL title game with Green Bay.

There will be no regular season Green Bay game this year, unless they both fight their way through the playoffs to the championship game, Dec. 31. But there will be a Green Bay game in pre-season. The date is Aug. 28 in the Cotton Bowl and the Cowboys are doing their best to take it as just another game.

No matter how hard they try, the memory of that 34-27 defeat by the Packers last Jan. 1 and that interception of a Don Meredith pass by Tom Brown has to make Aug. 28 a special date on the Dallas calendar.

"I hope we play them twice this year," said Meredith. "But I'd still wouldn't change the plays in that final series. I would try to improve the execution. The play that hurt most was the low pass I threw to Pettis Norman." Norman caught the ball on his knees on the two and the interception followed on the next play.

Tom Landry, coach of the Cowboys, isn't looking back. He is concerned about the new challenge the club faces as defending champions in the Eastern Conference.

Landry will continue his multiple offense, lining up in the I formation every time with full-back Don Perkins behind Meredith and halfback Dan Reeves behind Perkins. Then they shift into a variety of formations that include the double and triple wing. They also run from the I formation about 25 per cent of the time.

The Cowboys talked Perkins out his plans to retire so they will present the same backfield with Perkins at full and the amazing Reeves at half. Walt Garrison and Les Shy may be joined by Craig Baynam, a rookie from Georgia Tech, who was used as an end in college.

Meredith, nursing his usual sore arm in camp, is backed up by Jerry Rhyme and Craig Morton, two expensive second-year men. Landry wants to keep all three but the pressure from other clubs and the epidemic of injuries to quarterbacks, may force a trade. Landry needs a backup defensive lineman.

Bobby Hayes, the Olympic flash, is better than ever now that he has learned to run more patterns. Landry picked up Lance Rentzel from Minnesota to challenge Pete Gent, Meredith's sidekick, at flanker.

The veteran Buddy Dial still is available but has been sidelined with back trouble. Norman and Frank Clarke are the tight ends.

Medalists Face A Tough Job Now

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The medalists and former champions in the Heart of America four-ball golf tournament faced a tough match in today's quarter-finals.

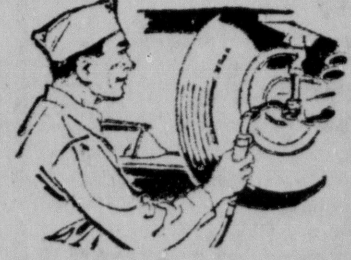

Ralph Campiano of Des Moines and Jim Jamieson, St. Augustine, Tex., who won the title in 1965, were matched against Ron Schmiedemann and Bob Leeper of Manhattan, Kan. Schmiedemann, former Kansas State University golfer, has been one of the outstanding players in this tourney.

Ken Lanning of Rolla and Bruce Hollowell of Springfield, Mo., were paired against Jack House and Rod Horn of Kansas City in the other upper bracket quarter-finals.

Gypsies were once round about in India but, about 1300, they began to wander westward and finally reached Europe.

Jim Nabors sat in the pool house of his hilltop Studio City home and talked about Carol Burnett and other things.

They are each other's greatest fans.

Which explains why Carol will be a guest when Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C., returns to CBS-TV for the new season, and why Jim will be a guest on the premiere of The Carol Burnett Show on CBS-TV on Monday, Sept. 11.

"Last year Jim and I got an idea for a special," Carol said. "But we got it too late. So we put a show together and went on the road with it."

Portions of the show, which wowed audiences in Dallas during a two-week stand ("it was 2½ hours of just us," Jim said), will be re-created on Carol's hour.

"Carol and I are so identical in our thinking," Jim said. "We're exactly alike."

"We have no discipline," Carol said. "When we're tickled about something, we're like two amateurs on stage, breaking up. It's so unprofessional to break up. We got the giggles rehearsing here one day, and Joe (Carol's husband, Joe Hamilton) got mad at us. We had to take a coffee break to settle down."

Carol is building up a "stock company" of regulars for her series. Her comedy foil is Harvey Korman. "Boy was I happy when we got him," she said. "He reminds me of Carl Reiner in the old Sid Caesar days. He can do any dialect. I need a good strong man to work with, to bounce off. I've been a fan of his ever since I first saw him on The Danny Kaye Show."

"We've also got this gorgeous man, 6 feet 4, with shoulders like Joan Crawford, who is going to teach me how to be a master of ceremonies. His name is Lyle Waggoner.

"We also hope to evolve skits based on recurring characters, something like The Honeymooners. We have an idea for skits based on the problems of raising a teenager. Harvey would be my husband, and a young actress would play my sister, Chris. But we don't know if this will work. We won't force it unless it takes off.

"Lynn Redgrave is going to be a guest. I met her at the Tony Awards in New York and there was that same chemistry between us as there was the first time I met Julie Andrews. I think we might spark something. We'll also have Sid Caesar lined up and Imogene Coca and Nanette Fabray. I feel like a kid with a candy store. I've always been star struck, and to have my own show and to have people in a production meeting tossing off these big names as my guests, WOW!"

Meanwhile, back in the Studio City pool house, Jim Nabors, helping his aunt prepare a dinner of barbecued ribs, was saying how glad he is that his series is moving to Friday nights at 8:30, an hour earlier than it was telecast last year.

"I'm happier this year with our time slot than ever. The kids who like our show will be happier, too. Traveling as much as I have recently, you learn who your fans are. We have a lot of kids who love our show."

During a rare week off, Jim took his mother, who lives in Alabama, to New York for her first visit to the town. One evening Jim, his mother, and an actor friend went to the theater.

Boycott Threat By NFO

Farmers' Unit Acts Favorably On Ultimatum

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The militant National Farmers Organization has given the nation's food processors an ultimatum: Increase prices for farm products or face an all-out market boycott by farmers that could "shut down the agricultural plant of America."

More than 35,000 NFO members shouted their approval of the plan and adopted the slogan "No prices, no production," at a meeting Wednesday.

No deadline for the desired price boosts was set, but NFO President Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., indicated that the board of directors will not hesitate to order the all-commodity boycott if market conditions fail to improve.

"The NFO is serving notice that farmers can no longer accept the low farm prices we are receiving," he said.

"Every processor has some time to decide whether he wants to pay the prices and sign the purchase contracts or push the American farmer into waging the economic battle we are willing to fight."

NFO members also authorized the directors to order holding actions of three to four days on milk plus regional market boycotts on livestock and to establish an NFO "grain bank" in hopes of putting a "floor" under grain prices.

Staley announced the NFO target on prices is $1.50 a bushel on corn; $3 a bushel on soybeans and $2 for wheat. On milk it is $6 a hundredweight, about 75 cents over the prevailing price in the Des Moines federally regulated market.

The target on livestock is $22.45 a hundredweight on hogs, $32.45 on choice cattle and $29.45 for lambs, well above prevailing markets.

Staley said the interim measures would "let the processors of this nation know that we are building for an all-out holding action that would affect every commodity and would shut down the agricultural plant of America."

Alluding to reports of scattered violence in three major withholding actions on livestock, grain and milk, the group has conducted since 1962, the NFO president promised that boycotts would be conducted with "a businesslike and calm approach."

The organization, which claims membership in 28 states, has never attempted an all-commodity holding action.

Tax Levy Set For Sedalia

Judges of the Pettis County Court Thursday set and approved tax rates, based on $100 valuation, for Sedalia and other Pettis County communities, and at the same time approved tax rates as determined by various boards of education.

The rate approved for Sedalia totals $3.97 per $100 valuation, a slight increase over the previous fiscal year. The figure includes 47 cents for county revenue, 35 cents for road and bridge work and three cents for state taxes.

The court determines the amount of tax by anticipated expenditures.

Levies for other county communities were: LaMonte, $2.35; Smithton, $1.90; Green Ridge, 25¢ cents; Houstonia, $2.10; and Hughesville, 50 cents.

School district tax levies are set by the various boards of education. The county court voted approval for all those submitted, which included Smithton, $2.76; LaMonte, $2.30; and Sedalia 200 District, $2.82. Also approved was a 30 cent tax levied by the Sedalia Junior College board of trustees.

Speaker At State Palsy Meeting

Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter of the Children's Therapy Center will be one of the principal speakers at the State Cerebral Palsy Board Meeting to be held this weekend in Jefferson City.

Accompanying Mrs. Hunter will be Mr. and Mrs. Greg Connor also of Sedalia. Mrs. Connor is the President of United Cerebral Palsy of West Central Missouri.

The program will be on United Funds and Independent Campaigns.

Militant Farmers

In convention at Des Moines, the National Farmers Organization gave strong approval to a plan calling for a marketing boycott unless farmers get higher prices for commodities. (UPI)

Lull On Ground In Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP) — American combat casualties in the Vietnam war last week dropped to their lowest number since last January, reflecting a lull in major, sustained ground fighting, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said 82 Americans were killed and 748 wounded.

But a new series of small, fierce scattered skirmishes that could develop into something bigger was reported by U.S. Marines rooting out Communist troops in hills west of the coastal plain of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war over North Vietnam, bad weather limited

U.S. pilots to a below average 111 missions Wednesday.

Heavy clouds hung over the Hanoi-Haiphong area and air strikes were concentrated in the southern panhandle stretching from south of Hanoi to the 17th parallel that divides North and South Vietnam.

The Command said 1,043 Communist soldiers were killed last week, the lowest figure this year.

The toll of American dead last week was the lowest since the week ending Jan. 7 when 67 U.S. soldiers were killed. The wounded toll was the lowest since the 716 in the week ending Jan. 21. The over-all toll of 830 killed and wounded last week was the lowest since Jan. 7 when 546 casualties were reported.

Last week's toll compares with 146 Americans killed and 1,064 wounded the previous week, slightly below this year's weekly average.

Records showed 12,497 Americans have died in combat in Vietnam from Jan. 1, 1961, through Saturday, while another 76,630 U.S. troops have been wounded.

The U.S. Command said that with the exception of one significant engagement, contacts last week were generally light and scattered and on a small unit level throughout South Vietnam last week.

The lull in major sustained ground fighting has been evident since early last month. There have been exceptions, when Communist forces ambushed U.S. units, inflicted heavy casualties, then pulled out quickly. Some military strategists believe the Communists are resupplying and regrouping during the lull.

The South Vietnamese armed forces announced losses of 283 dead and 683 wounded last week, above their average. Their high casualties stemmed largely from isolated actions.

Hospital Patients Plan Visit

Approximately 1,000 patients at State Hospitals will visit the Missouri State Fair this year, Dexter Davis, Commissioner of Agriculture and Secretary of the Fair W. C. Askew, announced Wednesday.

Requests for arrangements for these people to come to the fair, accompanied by supervisors and attendants have been completed, they reported. "It is the first time to my knowledge," Askew said, "that such a request has been made. We have had a few come to the fair, but this is the greatest number yet. We hope they will enjoy every minute of their visit here."

Coming to the fair are patients from Marshall, Higginsville, Carrollton, Nevada, and the Western Mental Health Center at Kansas City.

TODAY'S WEATHER

Chance of showers and thunderstorms Friday and Friday night. Continued warm Friday but turning cooler Friday night. High Friday 84 to 92. Clear to partly cloudy and cooler Saturday.

The temperature Thursday was 66 at 7 a.m., and 80 at noon. Low Wednesday night was 66.

The temperature one year ago today was high 87; low 69; two years ago, high 94; low 68; three years ago, high 84; low 60.

Lake of Ozark stage: 58.9 feet; 1.1 below full reservoir; minus .1. Pomme de Terre: 86.8, no change.

Orientation Day Set For Smith-Cotton

Orientation Day at Smith-Cotton High School for all new students, including incoming eighth graders, will take place Thursday, Aug. 31, at 1:15 p.m., Earl Finley, principal of Smith-Cotton, announced today.

Finley indicated that all new students should report to the Smith-Cotton Auditorium where they will be greeted by Senior High Student Council president, Harry Lambirth. Following a brief introduction to Smith-Cotton by principal Finley, short explanations on various phases of the school program will be given by various student leaders and the heads of certain departments, such as guidance. After the assembly, students will then have the opportunity to visit their classrooms and teachers.

According to Finley, regular high school classes begin Friday, Sept. 1, at 8:45 a.m. for all students. Students will run through the schedule of classes and receive assignments. The Friday session will end at approximately 11:15 a.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 5, will be the first full day of school.

Boys Held In Arson Attempt

Two boys, age six and nine, were taken into custody Wednesday after attempting to start a fire in the vacant residence at 802 East Sixth, Sedalia police said.

The boys apparently had filled a bottle with kerosene and lit it, causing it to explode and spread the fire to walls. The fire was extinguished by Sedalia Patrolman Clyde B. Nicewarner, who answered a call after a neighbor saw the two boys enter the house.

They were taken in custody after going to the Hudson Oil Co., service station at 600 East Broadway, from where an attendant called police after seeing that the six year old boy was injured.

The nine year old youth was turned over to juvenile authorities. The other boy received emergency treatment at Bothwell Hospital for severe burns of the right leg and was then transferred to the Whiteman AFB hospital.

Illinois Visitors At Fair

Three people from Knoxville, Ill., two of whom are officials of the Knox County Fair, were visitors at the Missouri State Fair grounds, Wednesday, visiting with secretary of the fair W. C. Askew. They were Roy Swanson, president, Victor Olson, vice-president, of the Knox County Fair Board, and George Olson, son of Victor Olson, a pilot, flew the two officials to Sedalia.

They arrived at the Sedalia Municipal Memorial Airport and were taken to the fair grounds where they also visited with Al Sweeney of National Speedways Inc., who promotes the auto racing program for the Illinois fair.

Purpose of the visit to Sedalia was to see the new bleacher section which has replaced the grandstand temporarily. The Knox County Fair has plans to erect such bleachers at their fair in a more permanent proposal. The local bleachers will be replaced with a modernistic grandstand at a cost of more than $600,000 and ready for the 1968 fair.

The party was given a tour of the fair grounds during which they told Askew, "This is one of the most beautiful installations of State Fairs in the Country."

President Swanson said they just completed their annual fair, which was one of the most successful in its history. "Everything was up, attendance, livestock and entries of various departments. The fair officials are very happy over this past fair," Swanson said.

Emergency Fund For Flood Area

Cities Will Receive $1-Million

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Thousands of refugees lining the hills around this flood-covered city were cheered Thursday as President Johnson declared Fairbanks and other towns in central Alaska a disaster area.

But the dirty, brown waters of the Chena River, which bisects this city of 30,000, the second largest in Alaska, were receding at a tantalizingly slow pace.

It appeared there would be no chance for the refugees to return to their mud-filled homes and businesses before Saturday to start a massive cleanup and reconstruction job.

Designation of the region as a disaster area, the second in Alaska in three years, prompted this jubilant comment by Mayor H. A. "Red" Boucher:

"Now we'll get the job done in time. All we need is the tools and we're ready to go."

Anchorage and south central Alaska were declared a disaster area following the 1964 earthquake and the federal government poured in nearly half a billion dollars for reconstruction.

Two more bodies were found in Fairbanks today in a small, log cabin the center of town. This brought the known death toll to seventy-five in Fairbanks and two in Tok, a border station about 200 miles southeast of Fairbanks where the Tok River also went on a rampage.

The Red Cross identified three of the dead here as Mrs. Josephine Newlan, 72, Fairbanks, and D. C. Kelly and Glenn Traxler.

Accident Claims Two Lives

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP)—An East St. Louis man and his wife lost their lives Thursday in an accident involving a station wagon and a pickup truck two miles east of Grand Pass on U.S. 65.

Joseph C. Roberts, 44, the station wagon driver, was killed in the accident. His wife, Lillian, died several hours later in a Waverly hospital.

The couple's oldest daughter, Nancy Ann Roberts, 17, was listed in serious condition at a Waverly hospital. The four other children, Pamela Sue, 15; William Charles, 9; Douglas Ernest, 5 and Tina Maria, 3, were listed in fair condition. Also hospitalized was Norman T. Sachau, 40, Flora, Ill., driver of the pickup truck. He suffered multiple face and chest lacerations.

The passengers were trapped in the station wagon for a time. The truck caught fire.

Federal Crime

House Passes Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has overwhelmingly passed a bill making it a federal crime to harm or interfere with persons trying to exercise their civil rights, and extended the protection to include police and firemen working in riot areas.

But the bill, largely the same as a portion of the 1966 civil rights bill which died in the Senate, may be killed there again.

The amendment providing federal protection for police and firemen was supported by members angered by this summer's city riots, in which several police officers and fire-fighters were injured. Some were killed.

But the bill, largely the same as a portion of the 1966 Civil rights bill which died in the Senate, may face a similar fate.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-C., whose Senate Judiciary subcommittee began hearings on the same measure Aug. 1, said then it "cannot stand the constitutional light of day" under the 14th Amendment.

Senate sources rated the bill's chances of clearing the full Judiciary Committee as zero. They said an attempt might be made to bypass the committee and put the House-passed version on the floor for debate, but forecast a Southern filibuster if that tactic was used.

In the House, a majority of both parties supported the bill, which sailed through Wednesday 326 to 93 after a series of relatively minor amendments were adopted and two major ones were turned back.

The bill would make it a federal crime for a person to interfere with, injure or intimidate, or threaten to injure or intimidate anyone because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation and because he is or has been engaging in certain protected activities.

'Replan' a March

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The civil rights march by Louisiana Negroes, beset by increasing violence, marked time today. Its leader A.Z. Young, said they would do "a little replanning."

The march will resume Friday at Walker, where it was halted Wednesday shortly after state police swung carbine butts and billy clubs to break up an attack on the Negro column by some 75 whites.

Meanwhile, H. Rap Brown, the Negro militant, arrived in the state, called Gov. John J. McKeithen "a fourth-class idiot," and said he would speak at the rally scheduled Sunday in Baton Rouge to mark the end of the 106-mile march from Bogalusa.

The decision by the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League not to march today gave a 24-hour respite to all involved, including the 200 troopers assigned to protect the marchers, whose number has varied from 6 to 100.

The attack Wednesday came at Satsuma, a little crossroads town on U.S. 190 some 30 miles east of Baton Rouge.

Several whites stumbled out of the fighting with head lacerations streaming blood. Eight men were arrested and later released on $500 bonds. Four men, one a state police officer with a gashed cheek, received treatment for head wounds at a hospital in nearby Denham Springs.

"The overwhelming majority of the Negro people do not approve of what this group is trying to do," McKeithen told a news conference Wednesday in the state Capitol at Baton Rouge.

The marchers, who left Bogalusa a week ago today, say they want to present McKeithen with a list of grievances at a rally at the Capitol. The governor says he won't be there.

"I have stood up for the principle of giving people equal opportunity, giving people equal protection of the law," said McKeithen. "That means...that the law will be enforced against white and Negro alike without favoritism."

"It means, specifically," the governor continued, "if Rap Brown comes here and violates the law he will be arrested immediately."

At the New Orleans airport, Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee was asked if he would conform to state law. He replied: "I didn't make the laws, neither did black people in this country. If the laws defeat my purpose, why should I conform to them?"

Deputies said he apparently was taken to the spot and shot and the body left there.

The body of the Negro was found by a contract newspaper carrier on Valley View Road about half a mile north of U.S. 40, just east of here.

Four shell cases were found near the body.

Safety Theme

While visitors are strolling around the State Fair grounds this year they will be constantly reminded of the safety theme. Above, in front of the giant locomotive near the

Crossroads Comment

Assets of any business are those individuals who consistently display the native ability of initiative, the energy or aptitude to engage in activity without direction from someone else.

Anyone can have this attribute which is not the sole qualification of an executive. If they do have it and are not an executive, they will become one in due time. Initiative cannot be concealed from employers. To them it is a substance as brilliant to recognize as the contrasting characteristic of the clock-watcher.

These random comments were inspired by observing supermarket managers not only in Sedalia but in Ohio, Tennessee and elsewhere the past several months. They're always busy doing something. And while they are doing it they keep a wary eye on activities around the store.

This includes quite a bit of sleuthing to minimize one of food stores' greatest nuisances—the pilferer.

Don't start counting the people going through the checkout counters, but statistics reveal that one of every 52 shoppers leave the local supermarkets with stolen merchandise hidden on his or her person. As if they were not enough to make a manager grey-haired, it is estimated that thieving employees rob their bosses of more than a billion dollars in items ranging from paper clips to power tools.

Warns of Chinese Threat to World

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, who has been on vacation, today interrupts that vacation to write a column on a unique visitor to Washington.)

HONOLULU — President Johnson is receiving a unique visitor at the White House, President Felix Houphouët-Boigny of the Ivory Coast, sometimes called the George Washington of West Africa.

He is unique because, though a friend of President De Gaulle's and though he served five years as a member of the French Cabinet, he had the courage to order his U.N. Ambassador to vote with the United States and against De Gaulle during the recent showdown over the Near East.

He is also unique because, while surrounded with pro-Communist neighbors, he has stood firmly for the free enterprise system.

Finally, President Houphouët-Boigny's visit is important because at a time of Negro unrest in our big cities, when some American Negroes are looking to Africa for leadership, the Ivory Coast's experience with Chinese Communist activities is most revealing.

I visited the President of the Ivory Coast two years ago, lunched with him at his summer home, and we talked at length regarding the problems of the United States and Africa. Flanking the double doors of his living room were two of the largest elephant tusks I have ever seen, and in the outer hall was a small golden elephant.

"President Johnson wouldn't approve of that," remarked President Houphouët-Boigny, "but tell him we will soon acquire a donkey."

France vs. Red China

The President of the Ivory Coast is a Negro of quiet dignity, who was taken to Paris as a small boy, educated in French schools and universities, obtained a doctor's degree, and for many years practiced medicine.

He explained how the new republics of West Africa were being pulled in two different directions: 1, toward France, with which they have cultural and economic ties; 2, toward Red China, which is staging a political and propaganda drive to take them over.

On the other hand, he told me, many Africans see their future with the United States, if they can develop more trade and obtain technical help in developing their economy.

To the east of the Ivory Coast is Ghana, which at the time I was in Africa was virtually a satellite of Red China under the totalitarian rule of Nkrumah. Some months later, while Nkrumah was in Peking, his people kicked him out and established a new pro-West government, leaving Nkrumah to take refuge in Guinea to the west of the Ivory Coast.

President Sekou Toure of Guinea once used as many as 1,200 Communist advisers, and in 1965 got a promise from Moscow to build a huge hydroelectric dam on the Koudure River. Generally speaking, President Sekou Toure follows the Chinese rather than the Russian line of Communism, believing in violent revolution. He has been preaching this to some of the young American Negroes who have gone to see him.

These include John Lewis of SNCC, James

Man's Magazine reports that according to Professor Chad Gordon, a Harvard sociologist, thieving employees pacify their consciences with attitudes like "the company had it coming" or "the sobs owe me a raise."

The FBI reports that shoplifting has increased 93 per cent in the past five years. "Heisting" of two billion dollars worth of merchandise occurred last year as America's fastest growing larceny. Used as accessories are such things as oversized skirts, baggy booster bloomers (my, in these warm days?), balloon bras, and umbrellas.

We can imagine baggy bloomers, but how about crotch-carriers? The magazine says these ingenious persons really haunt the supermarkets almost defying the most aggressive manager searching for stolen items. A recent issue of the FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin cites cases of female crotch-carriers walking away with turkeys, hams, cans of coffee and even a portable typewriter in its case.

In case you don't know what a crotch-carrier is, Webster defines "crotch" as an angle created by parting at the body of two legs.

That's enough to make any victimized supermarket manager crotchety, and maybe lose his initiative.

Moscow Anticipates Mao's Early Fall

By LEON DENNEN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)

According to a secret Soviet radio called Peace and Progress, some high-ranking Peking officials are planning to escape from China.

If the Russians are to be believed, Mao Tse-tung's fall is imminent. At any rate, the Russians are acting on that assumption.

"Internal strife and quarrels among Mao Tse-tung's close associates will in the end inevitably lead to the disappearance from the Peking political scene of many of the Maoist elements," the clandestine radio said in a Chinese broadcast. "Some high ranking officials who have no confidence in the firmness of the Mao Tse-tung government are actively preparing to retreat or escape from China."

This may be wishful thinking in Moscow. But, for the Russian Marxist-Leninists, the wish is often father to the act. They are apparently convinced that Mao's government is disintegrating and they want to stage a power comeback in China when he falls.

The Russians take no chances. Having failed in their efforts to convene an anti-Chinese world Communist conference, I learn that they are now sending Soviet agents to China's remote and unruly provinces.

Most of the agents are Red army officers of Chinese and Uzbek origin. Reportedly trained at a special school in the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, they are infiltrating China through the Sinkiang province where Mao's Red guards are known to have engaged in military skirmishes with Russian military detachments. Their assignment is to help anti-Mao Communists to foment disorder and seize power wherever possible.

Moscow obviously has information about China's internal struggles that is not available in the West. According to the clandestine radio, Mao and his entourage have a jet plane ready at all times to facilitate their flight from Peking. "Those rotten and infamous leaders have begun to deposit money squeezed from the people in neutral banks in Switzerland," the radio reported.

"Latest reports from Geneva reveal the Mao Tse-tung ruling clique has opened special accounts in the banks of Geneva and that their agent in Switzerland is Fei I-ming, publisher of the newspaper Kung Pao in Hong Kong."

The Russians also claim to have information that many leaders of China's "cultural revolution" have smuggled funds into West Germany and other foreign countries.

"This is a top secret," the Soviet radio report said. "But it proves again that Mao Tse-tung and his clique are exceedingly worried about the day when the Chinese people will fully realize how their false leaders in the past few years have ruined the Communist party and have pushed China to economic bankruptcy."

Soviet information about Red China should, of course, be taken with a grain of salt. But the radio report is also significant as a revelation of Moscow's plans should Mao fall.

Recent Soviet action makes it clear that the Russians are using their enormous resources to topple Mao. They are obviously determined to be in Peking before Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek or the United States get there.

Grave Harm Outweighs Any 'Benefit' of LSD Use

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

(First of two related articles.)

Taking drugs for kicks is hazardous at best. Persons who will try anything once sometimes discover that once is too often. This is especially true of lysergic acid dimethylamide (LSD), a drug that may have some legitimate uses in the treatment of mental patients but is so unpredictable in its action that it should never be used except under medical supervision.

Reports indicate that this colorless, odorless, tasteless drug is being widely used by high school and college students. It is obtained on the black market in sugar cubes that sell for $2.50 to $5 each. One cube is good for an 8-to-10-hour "trip" to never-never land where all sensory stimuli are greatly intensified and one loses all sense of individuality or individual responsibility.

While under the influence of LSD a person's awareness becomes so expanded that he is supposed to be able to understand the mysteries of God and the universe, an understanding that seems to evaporate as the effect of the drug wears off and can be recaptured only on another "trip."

Although in some persons the hallucinations induced by the drug are described as pleasant, in others they are so

One No-Trump Awkward Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In a duplicate game a one no-trump doubled contract is apt to produce a lot of fireworks. If declarer can bring it home he usually gets a top or near top. If he gets set more than one trick he gets a very bad score while one down doubled but not vulnerable is likely to be just about average.

East's takeout double of one spade is not recommended for steady consumption. He had passed originally but the fact that he had passed had not changed one card in his hand. He still had 10 high card points and poor distribution.

South might well have passed one spade and let his opponents take over but South decided to try one no-trump with his 13 points and it was up to West to do something. West made an unpopular double.

It was 100 per cent unpopular. West didn't like it much. North hated it but didn't think he had any place to go. East didn't like it but was sure he had no place to go and South surely didn't like

West opened his jack of diamonds and it was up to the defense to set declarer two tricks if they could work it out and South wanted to get out for down one if possible.

The defense was too good and it wasn't possible. West's jack of diamonds held the first trick and he continued with the four. East won with the queen and led the nine of clubs. It was allowed to hold and he continued with the eight.

South won this trick and led the queen of spades. West covered with the king and South let it hold.

The defense had four tricks in and proceeded to take the king of clubs, the ace of hearts and two more diamonds for that 300-point plus.

Justice Black Is Hard to Tag

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not all his fellow senators liked the idea of seeing Hugo Black on the Supreme Court. And 30 years ago today, when the Senate approved his appointment, the vote was 63 to 16. It was a symbolic split.

There has been divided opinion about him since, with some switcharounds. He has done some switching himself since President Franklin D. Roosevelt named him to the court.

In his public years he has been called a lot of things: racist, bigot, absolutist, activist, liberal, radical. Perhaps his greatest contribution has been concern for individual freedom and being a goad to the other eight justices.

Black did some switching before ever reaching the court. He joined the Ku Klux Klan for two years at the start of his political career—perhaps he thought it was a good way to get votes—but quit just before he ran successfully for the Senate in 1926. This came back to haunt him.

He was different things at different times in the Senate. One writer, Daniel Berman, points out Black fought against an antilynching bill but denounced violence against Negroes.

He alienated the Klan by backing a Catholic, Al Smith for president in 1928. He became a shining liberal and ultra-New Dealer, helped author the wage-hour law, backed Roosevelt on his court-packing plan.

Black's competency was questioned as soon as Roosevelt picked him for the court. But the biggest storm of his life broke with the news he had been a Klansman. Liberals screamed in pain, although he later became a liberal darling, and they called Oct. 4, 1937, the day he took his seat on the court, "Black Monday."

In his years on the bench he has been an individualist. He dissented 16 times from the majority opinions in his first year as a justice.

His concern for the individual showed up early, too. Over his protest the court in 1942 decided a state doesn't have to provide a lawyer for a man on trial who is too poor to hire one. By 1963 the court had come around to Black's thinking and reversed itself.

He also showed the long view in 1941 when he dissented from the majority opinion upholding an injunction against peaceful picketing. By the mid-1960s the court was throwing out one conviction after another of Negroes jailed for picketing and sit-ins.

But there are contradictions in Black which he seems unaware of. Back in 1942, in a case involving the Bill of Rights and its guaranteed freedom of speech, Black went along with the majority in holding that freedom of speech is not absolute.

The court said some kinds of speech, such as that which incites injury or tends to incite to breaching the peace, are not absolute and have to be weighed against the public interest.

Black agreed to such limits on freedom for in 1944 he wrote the majority opinion backing the government's right to yank thousands of Japanese-Americans out of their West Coast homes and put them in "relocation" centers at a time a Japanese invasion was feared.

Later Black became a startling exponent of the idea that such freedoms as those of speech are "absolute" and can't be abridged by Congress.

At the same time he said: "Nobody has ever said that the First Amendment (protecting freedom of speech) gives people a right to go anywhere... or say anything they want to say."

But he also said "without exception" nothing should be done to people for what they say.

Then this year he wrote the majority opinion upholding the conviction of 32 Negroes for picketing outside a jail.

Said Black: "The U.S. Constitution does not forbid a state to control the use of its own property for its own lawful nondiscriminatory purpose."

But Black makes his own argument about the "absolute" freedom of speech fallacious if he says it's absolutely free but only under certain conditions. In trying to give a simple explanation of his view on freedom he has made it simplistic.

First Things First

Regardless of anyone's evaluation of Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy as a potential candidate for president, he has made a statement most Americans will applaud.

"If we continue," he said, "to spend $66 million a day to 'save' the 16 million people of South Vietnam while leaving the plight of 30 million urban poor in our own country unresolved, then I think we have our priorities terribly confused."

Any arguments?

A 'bag' to New Yorkers is a 'sack' in Kansas and a 'poke' in Alabama.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Forrest Hood, mother of three sons in the armed services, christened the new Victory engine No. 2125 at dedication ceremonies at the Missouri Pacific shops. Eleven hundred shop employees formed a living "V" pointing toward the engine. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold, chaplain of Pettis county Post 16, American Legion, gave the principal address. Fred G. Rose, chief booster, opened the meeting. The Rev. Fr. A. J. Brunswick of Sacred Heart church, gave the invocation. Guy T. Calender, superintendent, introduced Mayor A. H. Wilks and others.

THE OREGONIAN: Feather Figures. — A pound of lead is no heavier than a pound of feathers, as anyone knows who bit on a juvenile catch-question years ago. But a pound of feathers occupies much more space, and the federal government must have rented gigantic warehouses to store its feather stockpile.

The Associated Press investigated the feather situation after the Pentagon announced it had let a $320,000 contract to process 800,000 pounds of feathers for use in sleeping bags and pillows for the armed services. It uncovered the fact that the General Services Administration had laid up a stockpile of millions of pounds of feathers and down as far back as World War II. At one time, it had 10 million pounds of feathers. That's 5,000 tons.

The goal now is to lower the stockpile to three million pounds. . . A few years ago the GSA sold 700,000 pounds to private bidders. The Veterans Administration and Public Health Service draw on the stockpile for bedding stuffing.

It should be comforting to taxpayers to learn that the government is making use of its old feathers instead of buying millions of pounds of new ones. They and the ducks were not plucked in vain.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THOSE RAUNCHY ROLLER-COASTER WAVES: Riding big "ironing boards" on curling, breaking waves off West or East Coast ocean beaches—surfing—is strictly youth sport. Till the last half-dozen years it was a swinging sport solely for guy and gal surf bums. Now its spectacular thrills have attracted almost all swimsuited youth. Two 19-year-olds hold the U.S. surfing lead, Atlantic and Pacific. Gary Proper, East Coast champ, just out of high school, fishes in $24,000 a year from boards sold in his name... while Corky Carroll, who started surfing at seven and has ridden the Pacific big ones, tops all riders on the West Coast. Wave zooming is zooming... surfers total about a million American guys and girls... Add a million or two "beach bunnies"—girls who sleekly get into suits and wait... not for a surfing wave but for their surfing guy... on the beach. It's easy to tell a surfing girl from a beach bunny... stare at her legs for those cherry to golf ball-sized knobs (calcium bunions) below her knee and on her foot top, earned by hours of kneeling and paddling on the board. These surfing girls tend to be robust pretty, and predictably blonde... they ride a lighter, usually wider and shorter board, pick less fierce waves... but show lots of grace and guts.

To learn surfing: Know how to handle yourself in ocean breakers... first, body surf. Then, go to a beach with good conditions (not terrific—you can surf on waves as little as a foot high, though surfers call these "junks")... Rent a board conservatively suited to your height and weight (those towering expert planks usually weigh 25 pounds, cost $175-$200), and get some expert guidance... Finally, paddle out and do what most surfers do most—wait. When that right wave looms, paddle like mad, catch it, stand... Adapt your body surfing techniques to the board... so you're pushed down the beach side of the nearly breaking wave... not back so far it leaves you, or forward so far you nosedive in a wipe-out...

Twenty seconds is a super run on the East Coast... huge Pacific rollers carry boards twice or triple that... (danger to watch out for, always, is being klunked by the board)... Nowadays, surfing is worldwide, year-round... follows the best waves and weather... to Mexico, Hawaii, Australia west and south Africa, France... and the true, salt-soaked surfer's motto is—"Have board, will travel."

NEW MOUSE FOR THE HOUSE: Twenty 3-ounce cuties arrived from Mongolia for laboratory experiments, two years ago... now several hundred thousand have spilled around in the fastest growing pet boom in the land. Called gerbils (pronounced juhr-bills), they're really a coarse-furred mouse, but with a hairy tail... Yet, when standing on their hind legs look astonishingly like tiny kangaroos... Their price of $10 is now dropping with rapid mouse-family rate of replenishment... Gerbils are delightfully tame, gentle, clean, odorless... love to cuddle in your hands, jump around boxes, learn tricks. A mouse in the house girls can love—they're so affectionate.

HOW TO HIT AS A SINGER—ITALIAN STYLE: Last winter in her native Venice, a girl named Patti wanted to be Italy's hit young singer—and decided how to do it. Hopped a train to the Piper Club, mod-rock top spot in Rome... and taxied straight from the station, wearing slacks and sandals (a toothbrush in her pocket for luggage, plus $5 worth of lira). Once inside the club, she waited for the first music break, then bounced on stage and burst into a mouthful of tune. Instant success! Conversation stopped, the band picked up under her... on the spot the club signed and headlined Patti. She's little, blonde, fair-skinned and eyed, chunky and very pretty... Spunky, too—picked the name of Pravo (Patti Pravo), copying the Italian "bravo," and won't reveal her real identity. Smartly, she has now cut two records, both hits (the second, "Vecchio Mondo," will arrive in the U.S. in English soon)... and jumped her night club net from $8 to $800 per performance.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY—Georgia was having trouble with seafood shells sliding on serving plates so I want to tell her how oysters and other seafoods are served in Louisiana. They are bedded on rock salt. If the food is heated in the shells on the salt in a metal or heatproof dish, the whole thing will stay hot for quite a time.—MARY LOU

GIRLS—You could take small aluminum foil pans the size of the spread of the shells, put enough salt in the bottoms to hold the shells in place and put them on a cookie sheet to go in the oven. Remove from the oven and with a spatula transfer each little foil pan with its good contents to the serving plate.—POLLY

Poll Says Nixon Is Favored

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—While Richard M. Nixon endorsed the latest expansion of U.S. bombing in North Vietnam, a poll gave fresh support to his potential candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former vice president told a news conference Wednesday he won't decide until early next year whether to run for the GOP nomination. If he does, said Nixon, he'll enter "a number of primaries" and withdraw if he doesn't win these tests.

The American Broadcasting Co. said in New York, meanwhile, that its poll of delegates to the 1964 Republican convention shows a near majority of respondents prefer Nixon in 1968.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who hasn't yet completed his first year of elective office, was a second choice — and showed surprising strength among the former delegates as an expected vote-getter.

The ABC poll, to be aired tonight on "Who in '68", drew responses from 938 delegates, or 71.1 per cent of those who attended the 1964 convention. Of the total responding, 614 said they expected to be delegates next year.

Nixon received 48.5 per cent support as a potential candidate compared with Reagan's 17.1 per cent.

Arabians And Tito End Talks

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito wound up his swing through Arab lands today amid signs that his talks with Arab leaders failed to produce any peace formula for the Middle East.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram quoted Yugoslav sources as saying Tito will soon launch "far-reaching political activity" through personal contacts and through the United Nations. The activity reportedly will be aimed at breaking what Tito has termed the "period of diplomatic stagnation" — the time since the emergency U.N. General Assembly on the Middle East adjourned in July.

Al-Ahram said Tito insisted that he had proposed no specific peace plans to Arab leaders, saying, "I came here merely to exchange views."

Informed sources said Tito had pleaded for a "realistic" approach to Middle East problems growing out of the June 5-10 war, and that this stand met especially stiff opposition in Syria.

Syrian Chief of State Nouredin Atassi rejected Tito's plea, the sources said, and refused to budge from Syria's hard anti-Israeli line.

On the religious front, the proposal of the chief rabbi of the Israeli army to hold prayers on Moslem territory ignited fears among politicians that it would touch off widespread Moslem protests, both in Israel-occupied territory and outside it.

The rabbi, Brig. Shlomo Goren, announced he would pray atop the hill where the second Jewish temple once stood in Old Jerusalem. The spot now holds the mosques of the Dome of the Rock and El Aksa, both sacred to Islam.

The second Jewish temple was destroyed in 70 A.D. by Titus. All that remains of it is Jerusalem's Wailing Wall, which stands just outside the mosque area.

The International Red Cross said that the first Arab refugees from Jordanian soil now under Israeli control should start returning to their homes Friday.

Behrens, Columbia; one daughter, Mrs. E. Warren Schlogel, Paola, Kansas; five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Leon Gerken, Mora; two brothers, Alvin and R. J. Behrens, both of Cole Camp. He was preceded in death by one sister and two brothers.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Cole Camp with the Rev. Arlin Saathoff officiating. The body will lie in state at the Fox Funeral Home in Cole Camp until 12:30 p.m. Sunday. The casket will not be opened after the services.

Burial will be in the Cole Camp Memorial Cemetery.
